Democrats May Give Judge Nod To McWherter

Observers Claim He Has Inside Track for Position on Ballot

Leaders of the Westmoreland County Democratic organization are leaning towards James L. McWherter as the party's choice for a third common pleas judgeship nomination, it was learned today.

McWherter, nephew of the late Judge George H. McWherter whose death created the vacancy, was defeated in the primary contest last month for two judicial nominations.

The county committee of each party will select a nominee for the McWherter vacancy to go on the November ballots along with the two candidates nominated by each party at the primaries.

The Democratic committee will not make its choice until after June 22, when the Republican County Committee is scheduled to pick the third judicial candidate for the GOP ticket.

Inside Track

McWherter, a former state Assemblyman from Derry, has taken the inside track in the strategy conferences going on all over the Democratic-controlled courthouse in Greensburg, a well informed source told The Daily Independent.

Other active candidates for the committee designation are assistant district attorneys John K Best, of Jeannette, and David H. Weiss, of Monessen.

Best is first assistant to District Attorney L. Alexander Scuilco, one of the two Democratic judgeship nominees chosen in the May primary. The other is Judge Edward G. Bauer, who seeks a second term on the bench.

Bauer and Scuilco won their nominations in a field of six candidates. They were the slated choices of the courthouse organization.

Running a strong third after a bitter campaign was Joseph M Loughran, a former assistant of Scuilco who broke with the machine when it refused to slate him McWherter was a poor fourth in the primary race and did not conduct an aggressive campaign.

'Good Name'

According to The Independent's informant, the organization leaders are figuring that McWherter has a "good name". In addition to being the nephew of the late judge, who was a good vote-getter and something of a nindependent Democrat, young James is the son of Miles C McWherter, the county's register of wills

There are some Democrats who think the organization would be smart to add Loughran to the ticket as the third man and thus heal the party split.

But Loughran, it is felt, has passed the point of no return in his criticism of his former associates, particularly Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner. As late as this week Loughran was still making public statements accusing the Turner group of being "racket-ridden".

The two Republican nominees for judge are Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr., who had no trouble winning the GOP nominations in the same field of six candidates. Loughran also ran third on the Republican ticket with Bauer, McWherter and Scuilco trailing in that order.

Speculation concerning the third GOP nomination is largely confined to two prominent Greensburg attorneys, Daniel J. Snyder and Robert Mitinger. Snyder, son

Five Killed in Auto Accident In Minnesota

CLARKS GROVE, Minn. (UP) —Five persons were killed and another injured Friday night when a speeding car went out of control on a wide curve near here and swerved head-on into another auto with a crash that sounded like an explosion."

The accident—the worst in Minnesota this year — occurred on U.S. 65, two miles north of here. The victims were Waldo R. Schultz, 41, Minneapolis, Minn.; Marilyn Ann Torgeson, 22, Mason City, Iowa; her grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Larson, 44, Forest City, Iowa; and Mr and Mrs. Ralph Berard, both 58, Des Moines, Iowa.

Kenneth Chapman, 39, Des Moines, Iowa, was taken to nearby Albert Lea Hospital in fair condition.

Mrs. Walter Carlson had slowed down to make a turn into her driveway when a car raced past her at a "terrific rate of speed." She said the car went out of control, into the wrong lane of traffic, and hurtled into the Berard machine.

The Schultz car was traveling "about 100 miles an hour," a witness told Freeborn County Sheriff Carl C. Lindahl.

$4,625 Reported As Spent by Local Democrats

A total of $4,625.80 was spent by the Monessen Democratic organization in the May 21 primary election, according to the expense account filed by organization chairmen Francis Crum with the Westmoreland County Commissioners yesterday.

The organization was successful in nominating all but one member of its slate. Nominated were Mayor Hugo J. Parente, Councilman John Molnar, City Treasurer John Spielman and City Controller James Tucci. Slate candidate David Victoria lost out to John Harhai, an independent Democrat.

The organization's account showed receipts totaling $4,625 and stated there are no unpaid debts remaining following the election.

The County Democratic Committee's expense account states there were no expenditures, no receipts and no unpaid debts, according to the report submitted to the commissioners by Robert A. Kilgore, party treasurer.

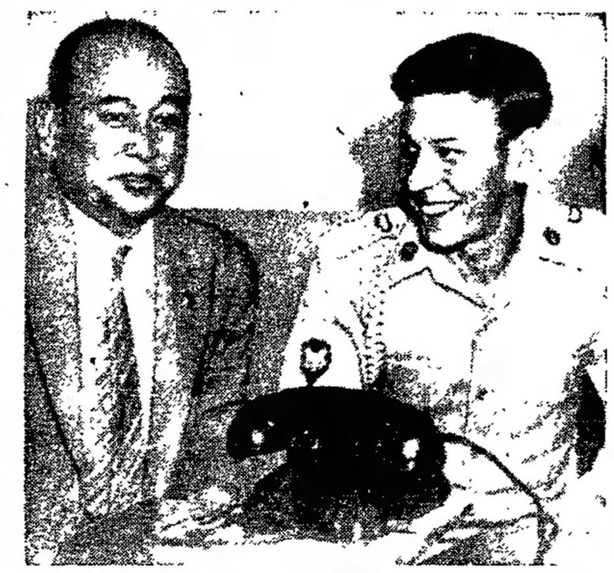
The final date permitted under law for filing primary election expense accounts is June 20.

School Director in Donora Resigns

James H. Myers has resigned as a member of the Donora School Board.

Elected to a six-year term in 1955, Myers has been transferred to the Greensburg office of West Penn Power Co.

He will move to Greensburg next week.



GIRARD FIRES LAWYER—Army Specialist 3-C Williams S. Girard looks optimistic as he sits here with the Japanese attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, who he has just fired on recommendation of his brother and U. S. counsel, at Camp Whittington in Japan.

Japanese Lawyer Is Fired by U. S. Soldier

TOKYO (UP) — U. S. Army Specialist 3-c William S. Girard, 21, of Ottawa, Ill., fired his Japanese lawyer today on advice of his brother and counsel in the United States.

The move was an apparent challenge to the right of a Japanese court to try him for manslaughter in the death of a Japanese woman on a U.S. firing range.

Maj. Stanley F. Levin, Girard's Army legal adviser, announced that the young soldier had decided to dismiss Itsuro Hayashi, one of Japan's leading trial lawyers. The move came after Girard talked twice by telephone with his brother, Louis, in Ottawa. It was made on the advice of Louis and that of American lawyers he retained for his soldier-brother.

Chief Counsel American

Levin said that from now on American attorney Earl J. Carroll, who has law offices in New York and San Francisco, "can be considered Girard's chief defense counsel."

Levin said the dismissal of Hayashi could not be considered a criticism "in any way" of the noted Japanese attorney.

Levin added that Girard probably would make no decision on whether to hire another Japanese defense lawyer until the outcome is known of a habeas corpus proceeding in federal district court in Washington.

Carroll has filed a plea there for the habeas corpus writ, asking Girard's immediate return to the United States. The court will rule on the plea Tuesday.

Government Decision Challenged

The move by Carroll is an attempt to reverse a decision by the U.S. State and Defense Departments agreeing to turn over Girard for trial by a Japanese court under the existing U.S.-Japan status of forces agreement.

It was reported that Louis Girard advised his brother not only to fire Hayashi but also to get rid of Levin.

"I'm still Girard's personal adviser," Levin said when told of this report, "and until I hear differently, that's the way it is."

Levin said Girard had been advised by his brother not to talk to the press and not to make any statements which "acknowledge" the jurisdiction of the Japanese court.

Styles Bridges In Hospital For Good Rest

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, was in Doctors Hospital today suffering from "complete exhaustion."

A member of his staff said Bridges' physician, Dr. Luther Snyder, ordered him to the hospital Friday to "take a complete rest for about a week."

But the staff member emphasized Bridges' condition is not serious.

"The senator is all run-down," he said. "He just ran out of gas because he has been working too hard all year."

He said Snyder had "to slap Mr. Bridges into the hospital to make sure he would get some rest and not be bothered by people."

Snyder said Bridges was "doing well." He added the 58-year-old senator was not receiving any special treatment nor was he on a restricted diet.

Big Water Main Break Floods Mt. Oliver Area

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Gushing water from a double break in a 20 - inch water main fractured pavements in Mt. Oliver Friday night and flooded stores in the community's business district.

Unofficial estimates put damage in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Crewmen from the South Pittsburgh Water Co. worked for more than two hours to stop the flow which at one point reached above the floor level along busy Brownsville Road.

The breaks left Sherman Ave., a narrow side street, a path of broken asphalt. Police closed off Brownsville Rd. in fear the water might undermine the thoroughfare and traffic force its collapse.

At least four stores on Brownsville Rd were left with four feet of water flooding stock in the basement. A variety store on a nearby street had two feet of water.

Plan Hearing on Incline Proposals

HARRISBURG (UP)—Hearings will be held in Pittsburgh July 8-9 on the Pittsburgh Railways Company's second request to abandon two incline planes in the city's southside.

The Public Utility Commission ordered the hearing to consider the firm's proposal to end service on the Pittsburgh incline at Bradish St. and the Castle Shannon incline at East Carson St. C. D Palmer, president, said the firm lost $5,000 to $6,000 each month on the two planes.

The PUC rejected a proposal to eliminate the inclines in 1954 following numerous complaints from commuters using the service.

Minor Damage in Charleroi Crash

Minor damage resulted when two cars collided at the intersection of Fifth St. and McKean Ave., Charleroi, yesterday afternoon.

The drivers involved were Glenn Murray, of Charleroi, and Warren E. Hall, of R. D. 1, Fayette City.

Ike Defends Program; Calls for GOP Support

Says Action Merely Translates Platform Adopted by Convention

WASHINGTON (UP) — "Eisenhower Republicans" hoped today that President Eisenhower's political call to arms would spark greater unity amongst GOP congressmen in support of his budget and legislative program.

The President made a vigorous defense of his program in a speech at the windup Friday of a two-day national Republican conference to plan for the 1958 congressional campaign.

He said his budget and legislative program merely translated into concrete programs the GOP platform pledges unanimously adopted at the national convention last year. He said he would use "every power" at his command to write them into law.

Eisenhower called the platform "a solemn commitment" and said he would use every power at his disposal to see that it was honored.

Warns Against "Preference"

He warned Republicans to bury "personal preferences" and support his program if they want to win next year's congressional elections.

Republican defeat in the coming elections, Eisenhower said, would put the country "back on the New Deal-Fair Deal toboggan of loose spending, centralization, punishment of business and fiscal irresponsibility."

The GOP must not let differences over "tactics" lead to "the supreme suicidal folly of forfeiting victory for vital principles," he told his audience of about 2,000.

"We've got a good team. Let's look like one," he said to a loud burst of applause. He was applauded a number of times during his speech.

Eisenhower called for general support within the party for his proposals.

Points Up Pledges

"Republican leaders, whether in Congress, in the executive branch, in the party organization, have a special responsibility for carrying out these pledges," he said. "None of us can afford to allow his personal preferences as to detail to blind him to the need of loyally supporting our party's platform."

Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), an Eisenhower Republican who headed the 1956 platform committee, told newsmen the speech "would do a lot of good within the party and around the country."

"It can't help but have real impact on all politicians, including the opposition party," he said.

GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, who has been plagued by party dissension since he took office last winter, said the two-day conference, climaxed by the Eisenhower speech, had enabled the party "to turn the corner this weekend."

Assembly In Push To Adjourn

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Legislature will start its big push Monday for final adjournment, with passage of the General Appropriations Bill slated for early in the week.

Although the Senate had aimed at June 15 for final adjournment, there is little likelihood of the chambers winding up their affairs until the following week. The $1,111,043,000 general appropriations measure is almost certain to go to a conference committee which is expected to take several days before reaching agreement on some of the differences between the House and Senate on fiscal matters.

In addition, the House and Senate still have to act on the non-preferred appropriations for private hospitals and state-aided universities which have been held up by the House Democrats in an effort to have some of the funds cut from the General Appropriations Bill restored.

Before the two chambers quit for the week Friday, the Senate pushed the general appropriation measure to where the final Senate vote could come Monday. However, since the Democrats were slated to propose a flock of amendments to try to restore more than the four million dollars the Senate Republicans added to the bill, the final vote may not come until Tuesday.

GSA Aid Boosted

The Senate, with only about half of their members in their seats, gave final approval and sent to the House a bill to increase the borrowing capacity of the General State Authority by 100 million dollars. Some of the money is earmarked for completion of the Philadelphia Independence Mall and Pittsburgh Point Park projects and construction of another major state office building here.

The Senate Appropriations Committee also sent to the floor about 170 million dollars in appropriations which do not come within the scope of the general appropriations measure. One bill allocated $129,600,000 for public assistance to bring the total appropriations for relief for the current biennium to $144,600,000. Before the biennium started June 1, the lawmakers adopted a special 15 million dollar stop-gap appropriation so relief payments could be continued pending final action on regular appropriations.

The House will resume at 11 a. m. (edt) Monday and the Senate at 2 p. m.

Youth Killed in Auto Accident

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP)—Donald Cicchilo, 16, Strothers, Ohio, was killed Friday when the automobile in which he was riding left the road and overturned in Bessemer Borough, Ohio, near the Pennsylvania line.

Joseph Belenski, 18, the driver; Samuel Cicchilo, 17, brother of the victim, and Gerald Zuccaro, 14, also from Strothers, were admitted to Jameson Memorial Hospital here with multiple injuries.

ON THE GRIDDLE — Senate probers shift their attention to bakery and confectionary workers officials as they quiz Anthony Conforti, president of the union's Local No. 1 in Chicago. He told the committee that he deposited about $9,000 of union funds in his private bank account and then doled out some of the money to a union vice president.

Bakery Workers Union Head to Answer Charges

WASHINGTON (UP)—President James G. Cross of the Bakery Workers Union will get a chance next week to answer charges that the union treasury supplied him with funds for a Cadillac and a long-legged brunette girl friend.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Labor Rackets Committee told reporters that Cross "will probably have an opportunity to comment" on the charges when the committee resumes public hearings next Thursday.

The committee heard testimony this week that Chicago locals bought Cross a $6,500 Cadillac with funds earmarked for "organizing."

The hearing recessed after Kay Lower, attractive brunette described by witnesses as the union president's girl friend, invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked if she knew him.

She also invoked the amendment when questioned as to how she happened to show up at a string of union conventions across the country, with stops at way stations like Ottumwa, Iowa. She refused to say who paid her bills.

Miss Lower, who allegedly also used the names of Elsie K. Lower and Mrs. E. K. Thorpe, said she did remember buying a man's diamond ring in December, 1955, from a Los Angeles jeweler. But she said she couldn't remember whether she paid for part of it with a $500 check on the treasury of Local 37 in Los Angeles, as the jeweler claimed.

Stolen Car Is Found Wrecked

A stolen car belonging to Ernest Lender, of West Newton, was found wrecked on Route 88 near Finleyville about 4:30 this morning, Monessen police reported.

Lender told police he had parked his car in the 1500 block of Schoonmaker Ave. yesterday afternoon about 2:30 and went to work on the 4 to 12 p. m. shift at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

He discovered the car missing when he finished work.

Local police sent out a teletype about 1:30 a. m. and three hours later the car was found wrecked and abandoned.

Three-car Crash Here Last Night

A three-car accident occurred late last night on Grand Blvd., Monessen police reported today.

Police said a car driven by Ted Pettko, of No. 1 Linden Ave., Monessen, struck the rear of a car operated by William Marsden, of 5 Rex Blvd., Monessen. The Pettko machine then spun around and crashed into a parked car belonging to Phyllis Crea, of Fayette City.

All three cars were heavily damaged.

Allegheny County Judge O'Connor Dies After Fall

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Allegheny County Court Judge Francis J. O'Connor, 53, died today at South Side Hospital of a skull fracture suffered in a fall at home.

Mrs. Lucille App, sister of the jurist, said O'Connor had toppled down a flight of stairs at his Mt. Lebanon residence Thursday. He fainted and was taken to the hospital in an oxygen tent.

O'Connor, doctors said, took a turn for the worse about 10 p.m. Friday, and emergency surgery was ordered. The judge died at 1:09 this morning, shorly after the operation.

His widow Alice, and daughter were at his bedside when he died.

The judge at first was reported to have been hospitalized with a heart ailment. He suffered a severe heart attack in 1951.

Recently, he had been suffering from pleurisy.

A graduate of the Duquesne University School of Law, O'Connor was admitted to practice in 1931. From 1938 until 1946 he served as assistant solicitor for Allegheny County.

He was elected to the County Court in 1945 and re-elected in 1955.

Big Estate May Only Be Little, Attorney Says

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—William Lund, 34, father of three and $90 per week record clerk in a factory here, expects to inherit 2 million dollars from a Swedish grandmother, but an attorney in Pennsylvania said today the total would be more like $4,000.

"I don't care what anyone else says. I'm still sure that I'll get the money," Lund said. And he meant two million, not four thousand.

Mrs. Franny Stromberg died in Stockholm in 1939, leaving a chain of theaters she had inherited from her husband to three children. One was Gustav Lund, William's father. Gustav is dead, and William claims his share.

Attorney Harold Stewart of Latrobe, Pa., called into the situation by Lund's mother, said the total estate was worth some $42,000, and that Lund would get less than $5,000.

A contrary opinion comes from Miss Christine Hognar of Berryville, Ark. It was Miss Hognar who informed Lund that he was an heir and who mentioned the 2 million dollar amount.

Lund said he plans to go to Sweden as soon as possible to "see if I can't get this thing straightened out."

Stirone Trial Moves Into Weekend Recess

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The extortion trial of labor leader Nick Stirone moved into a weekend recess with defense attorneys about to attempt to show an alleged "tribute" was actually payment for help in securing a contract.

Vincent M. Casey, counsel for the construction worker boss, asked building supplier William G. Rider to produce a $1,500 check made out to Stirone in February, 1952.

The attorney said he would prove Rider made the payment for assistance in getting a contract to supply ready-mix concrete for a Pittsburgh Steel Co. construction job in Allenport.

Rider, under examination by government attorneys, had testified he was forced to pay Stirone $31,274 in tribute, at a rate of 50 cents for every cubic yard of concrete moved to the mill site. The supplier said he never received any help from Stirone in getting the job.

Rider said at first he objected to paying tribute to Stirone but he finally "gave in."

"I had a lot of equipment and needed work. I knew if I didn't I'd get no contracts," he testified.

The supplier said his original meeting with Stirone was arranged by Robert Dierker, president of Duquesne Slag Products Co. Rider said he did not know the reason for the meeting.

"He (Dierker) drove up after I arrived. He had a man with him. He introduced me to Nick Stirone," Rider said. He testified Stirone "told me he wanted 50 cents per cubic yard. He told me he would keep me out of labor trouble."

Unoffical Write-in Count Favors Stieska

A recount of votes cast in the May 21 primary election in five of Monessen's 15 precincts yesterday showed John R. Stieska receiving 85 Republican write-in votes for mayor to 75 for Mayor Hugo J. Parente, giving Stieska an overall total of 170 votes and Parente 150 in unofficial returns.

However, the final outcome of the Republican mayoralty race still is in doubt because of "many mistakes in writing in the names of the candidates," the Westmoreland Board of Elections said following yesterday's recount.

The recount was ordered because of the confusion resulting in the handling of write-in votes in the five precincts. The Election Board, composed of the three county commissioners, met with the judges of election and minority inspectors from the five local precincts and recounted the write-ins on the Republican ballot.

In going over the tally sheets yesterday at the courthouse in Greensburg, the election board said there were many mispellings and abbreviations of names of the two candidates.

Some votes were cast for just "Stieska" instead of the correct listing of John R. Stieska. Some Republicans voting for Parente wrote in "Hugo" or "Parente".

It is up to the election board to decide which of these votes, if any, should be counted. Courts have held that where the intention of the voter is clear beyond reasonable doubt, the vote should be counted.

Stieska had a total of 61 mispellings or abbreviations and Parente 44. Correct write-ins were 109 for Stieska and 106 for Parente.

Stieska has not yet announced whether he will run on the Repub-

Beck May Be Asked To Quit Post Soon

WASHINGTON (UP) Informed sources said today Teamster Executive Board members will attempt to kick out Teamster President Dave Beck one way or another when the board meets July 1 at Los Angeles.

The sources said a group of board members including Secretary-Treasurer John F. English and Vice President William A Lee of Chicago will call for Beck's resignation.

Should Beck refuse, the group may suggest that he take a leave of absence until his term as president expires Dec. 1, sources said. Beck — plagued by Senate charges of theft and federal charges of tax evasion — already has announced he will not run for reelection at the giant union's convention in September.

AFL-CIO President George Meany told a cheering labor audience Friday that Beck "has no right to be in the trade union movement" and should be "kicked out now"—no' in September.

"John English has said the Teamsters will clean their dirty linen," Meany told the AFL-CIO first annual Industrial Relations Conference. "If they give Beck the title of president-emeritus that is not a cleaning job."

Meany's statement hinted that unless the Teamsters remove Beck in a way satisfactory to the AFL-CIO the union may face being ousted. The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has held up any action against the Teamsters pending their efforts to clean house.

Civil Defense Workers Get First Aid Certificates

Two separate groups of civil defense workers in the Fayette City unit received certificates for completing the standard course of first aid by Paul Ducosay and John Sucevic, of Monessen.

The firemen had nine members of their company receive full credit at a meeting in the firemen's rooms of the borough building on Thursday evening. The group included, Ray Bronder, William Ciavarra, Tom Breckenridge, Charles Wilson, Marion DeReinzo, James Yates, James Eley, Ronnie Devers and Lewis Moody.

The first aid division of civil defense, Marie Bell, chairman, had 36 persons completing the course. Their cards were presented at the meeting held at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

The list included three men, Ray Miller, William Layton and the assistant co-ordinator of civil defense Phillip Karcesky; Mrs. Bell Mary Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, Betty Gardner, Semina Dohan, Mary DeReinzo, Cheerful Barker, Mary Bake, Catherine Alberta, Dorothy Auther, Helen Abbott, Ruth Lakel, Christina Layton, Wilma Michloski, Grace Miller, Vera McCurdy, Irene Swantak, Ann Somancik, Sue Opfar, Mable Onufer, Hildegard Rogers, Edith Rintarcik and Tina Rintarcik.

Mary Russell, Ella Snarrer, Catherine Tola, Grace Louise Thader, Pia Turek, Kathryn Vesely, Frances Vesely, Mary Williams, Emma Yelanich, Evelyn Renstrom and Millie Skibo.

The group discussed plans for an advanced training course. The two instructors will again be in charge. The course will begin on Tuesday evening, Sept. 10 and continue until 12 hours study and practice time is complete.

Local Youths Leave For Army Service

William Arrow, Jr., and George Package, both of Fayette City, and Paul Rathway, Fayette City-Perryopolis Road, were among the group leaving Perryopolis for basic training with the U. S. Army on Wednesday morning. The three local men will be stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Ronald Delbarre and James Yates left the same day to begin their four year enlistment term in the U. S. Air Force. Both boys were recently graduated from Bellmar High School. They will be stationed in Texas.

Ladies Sodality Plans Summer Activities Here

Summer plans were made by members of the Ladies Sodality of St. Edward's Catholic Church at their meeting Wednesday evening in the church social rooms.

The prefect, Dorothea Yelanich presided, leading the group in the opening prayer and closing hymn.

During the business session plans were made to hold two candy sales during the summer months, the first to be this Sunday before and after the early mass. Agatha Berna and Mary Lou Krivda were named co-chairmen. The second sale will be on Sunday morning, July 21 with Dolores Berna and Wanda Dubinsky in charge.

A discussion on a summer outing brought about tentative plans to hold a picnic-swimming party, the date to be set.

This was the final meeting of the organization until September when a full activity program will be resumed.

Former Member Of Class Honored

The N.C.T.S. class held a get-together Wednesday evening and honored a former member, Mrs. Alice Davis, of Los Angeles. The group of 13 enjoyed dinner in Sweeney's dining room then played golf before going to the home of the teacher, Mrs. Fred Stockton, for a visit.

Mrs. Davis is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Nellie Hicks and several brothers and sisters in this area.

Parade to Open Celebration Here on Monday Evening

Two mammoth parades will add color to the annual West Newton firemen's fair Monday through Saturday.

The celebration this year will be observing the 160th anniversary of the borough, the 50th anniversary of the West Newton Volunteer Fire Department, and the 22nd annual convention of the Westmoreland County Firemen's Association.

In connection with the fair, the West Newton PTA is making a house-to-house visitation for the sale of an anniversary booklet published by the fire company in connection with the celebration.

This booklet contains the history of the fire company, as well as the history of West Newton and its churches, schools, and organizations. It has many old pictures.

Prior to the official opening of the fair there will be two memorial services tomorrow. At 3 o'clock there will be a service in the high school gym when the Westmoreland County Firemen's Association will honor deceased members.

The West Newton VFW will have a similar service at 7:30 p. m. in the same auditorium. The Rev. Thomas McKee, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service which is open to the public.

On Monday, the opening day of the fair, a military parade will take place at 8 p. m. Military units from Connellsville, Scottdale, Mt. Pleasant, Greensburg, Monessen and Monongahela will be in the line of march. The procession will be led by a military band from Connellsville, and be reviewed by Army and Navy dignitaries.

On Saturday afternoon, June 15, a parade of fire companies bands, drum and bugle corps, ladies auxiliaries and fire equipment will parade from North Second St. to Vine at 2 p. m.

Today's athlete wants to win fairly according to the rules. Primitive man had no rules, no sense of fair play.

In the intervening centuries man learned more of God. He began to apply basic religious principles of honesty and integrity to all the activities of life. Finally, he decided that even his games ought to be played by such standards.

Sometimes we say that sports build character. We really mean that fair play—the religious principle we have tried to incorporate in our games—turns mere competitive effort into a character-molding experience.

But life is more than a game . . . and Christian character is more than sportsmanship.

The Church teaches all of us the principles of moral and spiritual living. It brings us into a reverent relationship with God himself. Its truths not only inspire fair play . . . but victorious living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lawler on Stand Monday at Pike Fraud Trial

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler will testify Monday at the resumption of the trial of nine men accused of defrauding the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Deputy Attorney General Vincent G. Panati said Lawler, an ex officio member of the commission, will explain his part in the awarding of a turnpike contract to the Manu - Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, for the filling of abandoned coal mines beneath the Northeastern Extension in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties.

Lawler was one of five turnpike members who voted approval of the award Feb. 28, 1955, which the state charges Manu-Mine obtained by fraud. The state contends the firm made a 100 per cent profit under the terms of the contract.

Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, commission chairman at that time, and James F. Torrance, Export, suspended by Gov. George M. Leader pending outcome of the case, are on trial on charges of conspiracy and misconduct in office for their part in the contract negotiation.

At the final court session for the week Friday, the state presented three witnesses in an effort to prove that the contract was approved without the required state Highways Department authorization.

One witness, Mrs. Carmel B. Petyk, former secretary to suspended commission legal counsel Theodore S Paul, told the jury the rough draft of the contract was submitted to her on Manu-Mine stationery for typing of the final form.

Other Procedure Noted

The usual procedure is to have turnpike contracts prepared by the commission, the prosecution said.

John R. Rezzolla, Highways Department legal chief, had testified earlier the contract was not submitted to his department for preliminary approval

The defense argued the department's approval was not necessary on the contract because it was for "engineering" work rather than "construction." It further contended that if such approval was required, it was received by Lawler's vote in favor of the award

Henry Kloss, liaison officer between the turnpike and the Highway Department at the time of award, whose job was to examine and approve contracts between the commission and outside [illegible] told the court that he never saw a copy of the contract. He testified he learned of the bidding work while on an inspection tour of the Northeastern extension in the spring of 1955. He said that upon returning to Harrisburg, he inquired about the work and was told by John D [illegible], commission assistant chief engineer, that the project was "engineering" work

Both T. S. Paul and J. D. Paul are on trial for their part in the alleged conspiracy, together with Charles W. Stickler, Manu-Mine president; Clayton A Landsidle, vice president; G. J. Hudert, engineer for the J E Greiner Co., former consulting engineers for the turnpike, and E. J Donnelly, also of the Greiner firm.

Court will reconvene at 11 a m edt Monday.

Three Trustees Are Reelected

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Three trustees of Pennsylvania State University have been reelected to three-year terms, it was announced today.

Re-elected by alumni were J. E. Holtzinger, general manager of the Altoona Mirror, Ben C Jones, Greensburg, and Mrs. Ethel Sparks, Riverton, N.J.

American Students Happy to Be Back

VIENNA (UP)—Two American college students who went behind the Iron Curtain on a lark, were glad to be back unharmed in the free world today.

Warren W. Hair, 20, of North Augusta, S.C., and Myron A. Gilbert, 20, of Walterboro, S.C., were freed by Communist Hungary shortly before Friday midnight and turned over to Austrian police at the Nickelsdorf frontier post.

They still had a small matter of paying a fine in Vienna for illegal border crossing, and then they were free to continue their European adventures.

They don't intend to return immediately to the United States and the University of South Carolina, where Gilbert is studying political science and Hair is studying journalism. But they're convinced they have had enough of Red-ruled lands.

"We went to Hungary for adventure, as we wanted to see what it looks like behind the Iron Curtain," they told newsmen at the border. "Now we know, and are glad to be back again."

The pair were on a hitchhiking trip across Europe when they slipped across the Hungarian border on May 26. They told a pretty, 22-year-old Australian girl traveling companion to notify the authorities if they were not back in two days. When they failed to return, Jane de Pedro told police and the search was on for the boys.

It didn't have to go far. They weren't more than a mile inside Hungary near the Neusiedler Lake area before they were picked up by Red police and hustled off to jail in Budapest, where they were held in solitary confinement.

"We were not ill - treated, but were cross - examined nearly all the time," they said on their return. "The Hungarians suspected us of being U.S. spies.

"Overall, the treatment was not too bad and the food was sufficient. But the 12-day solitary confinement was very depressing for both of us."

They said they did not see each other from the time they were seized until they were informed of their impending release Friday.

Spelling Champs Named as Two Girls Are Tied

WASHINGTON (UP)—National Spelling Bee winners Dana Bennet and Sandra Owens planned today to use their prize money for further education and teeth straightening.

Dana, 13, from Denver, Colo., and Sandra, 14, from Navarre, Ohio, tied for top honors Friday in the toughest spelling finals since the contests began in 1925.

The end came after judges had used up their official 630 - word list and 11 words on a special supplementary list.

Both girls tripped up on the word "schappe" which means a silk scarf, and contest officials decided to declare it a draw. It was the second time the bee, sponsored by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, ended in a tie.

Dual winners in 1950 were Diana Reynard of Cleveland and Colquitt Dean of Atlanta.

Sandra—runner-up in last year's bee—said she planned to use part of her $1,000 winnings to get her teeth straightened.

A straight-A student, Dana intends to bank her $1,000 for college and hopes to be a teacher "in English or spelling."

Bible School At St. Paul

Plans have been made for two weeks of Daily Vacation Bible School at St. Paul Lutheran Church beginning on Monday morning and continuing for the next two weeks.

The theme of the school is "Bible Stories to Live By" and a staff of teachers has been named to prepare the course of study for each class. They are, Mrs. Mary Baker, primary; Mrs. Margaret Caldwell, intermediate; Mrs. Helen Rapp, cradle roll; Mrs. Margaret Harris and Mrs. Delphia Kachur, kindergarten.

Ruth Miller is acting as secretary-treasurer.

The school will conclude with a combined Sunday School, Church and Bible School picnic on June 22 at City Park. A family style supper will highlight the outing.

of a former orphans court judge, is treasurer of the GOP County Committee and probably could have the designation if he wanted it. He has not yet said that he does.

There is some sentiment among Republican leaders for giving the nomination to Loughran in what would be an obvious bid for independent Democratic support. Loughran is understood to be willing if not eager — to run again on any or all tickets.

The Democratic choice may have the advantage of running as a "sitting" judge. Gov. George M. Leader could fill the McWherter vacancy at any time by appointment, the appointee to serve for the balance of this year.

If routine is followed, the Governor presumably would appoint the man chosen by the Democratic County Committee

Parente, on the other hand, has indicated he will petition the courts for a recount if he is returned the loser.

No Republican candidates Ged and Stieska and Parente both conducted write-in and sticker campaigns for the GOP nomination.

Parente defeated Stieska by some 1,400 votes in the Democratic mayoralty contest.

The outcome of the Republican write-in votes for council, controller, treasurer and two school directors are being tabulated and the results are expected to be announced next week.

House Approves Housing Codes

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House of Representatives has approved bipartisan legislation to permit the state's 47 third class cities to enact housing codes.

The House unanimously passed Friday and sent to the Senate the measure to authorize the city councils to set up housing codes spelling out minimum standards for all types of dwellings, enforcement procedure, penalties and machinery for appeals.

The code could cover minimum standards for wiring, heat, sewage, living conditions and maintenance, among others. The bill was sponsored by Reps. James S Bowman (R-Dauphin), Robert K. Hamilton (D-Beaver), Julian Polaski (D-Erie) and Stephen McCann (D-Greene).

SALLY'S SALLIES

Big Naval Review Is Under Way at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va. (UP) — The world's largest peacetime naval review begins today when thousands of visitors climb on board nearly 100 warships gathered here for a ten-day maritime spectacular.

Visitors began swarming aboard the U.S. Navy's aircraft carriers, guided missile cruisers, destroyers and frigates at 9 a.m. e.d.t. Foreign vessels were to be opened to the public at noon.

Some 85 warships from 17 nations steamed into sprawling Hampton Roads in the last two days to participate in the celebration marking the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown.

More warships due to arrive today will swell the number of vessels in the harbor to nearly 100, making this the biggest peacetime naval demonstration in the history of the world.

Britain Sending Three

Due in today was the three-ship British contingent led by Britain's largest aircraft carrier, the Ark Royal. Also expected today was the colorful four-masted Spanish schooner Juan Sebastian de Elcano, on a trip around the world, and vessels from The Netherlands and Belgium.

Six French ships, the largest foreign flotilla in the review, steamed into the port Friday afternoon. The lead cruiser, Degrasse, her crew standing at attention on the decks, fired a 21-gun salute to the U.S. Navy and, the frigate USS Norfolk answered.

Canada followed next, and the two joined other newly - arrived ships from Portugal, Peru and Norway.

In all, 50,000 sailors, 20,000 of them from foreign nations, will stand inspection next Wednesday as the ships line up in two 14-mile rows across the harbor for Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to sail in review.

Ashore, sailors from the foreign vessels got a taste of the American way of life, digging into banana splits and ice cream sodas, chewing gum and buying gaudy sports shirts, cowboy boots and loud neckties.

An embarrassing incident appeared forgotten after a Turkish flag was removed from the front of a restaurant owned by Cypriote born George K. George. George protested against the flag, and before the vest pocket international incident subsided, Norfolk Mayor Fred Duckworth had made a public apology and the Turkish Embassy in Washington branded the affair "shocking."

The Retail Merchants Assn., which placed flags of all participating nations along the streets, replaced the flag in front of George's restaurant with the Venezuelan standard.

The sailors today were expected to begin planning a series of athletic events in which the countries represented will compete with each other. The U.S. Navy had three soccer teams on hand ready to meet any of the foreign challengers.

Japan on Way Back As Leader

TOKYO (UP)—Japan is striving slowly and consciously to become the spokesman for Asia and a powerful voice once again in world councils.

Its leaders have avoided direct expression of this aim in words. But they have hinted at it repeatedly.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi indicated this on Wednesday, the day after he returned to Tokyo from a quick tour of six Asian countries—the first made by any Japanese premier to at least four of the nations either before or after the war.

"I have formed an idea of the thinking of Asia's leaders," Kishi told a news conference. "What we discussed will contribute, I believe, to my talks with American leaders in the United States this month."

Whether the other countries of Asia like this development is another question. Some, like The Philippines and Burma, are still deeply suspicious of Japanese motives, fearing a revival of world war militarism

Others, like the republic of Korea, are openly hostile. Still others, like Thailand, Ceylon and Pakistan, apparently do not mind.

But even if they objected, there appears to be little they can do to stop Japan from regaining a position in the front rank of the struggling nations of Asia—most of them newly born and caught in a morass of problems of newly-won independence.

Japan is the only really industrialized nation in this section of the world. Its people are energetic, ambitious and skilled in handicrafts. Their literacy rate is one of the highest in the world.

In the process of working its way up, many Americans fear Japan will become anti-American. That differences will develop as Japan struggles free of the cocoon of American care which wrapped it after the war seems obvious. But the consensus is that Japan will not turn anti-American.

Girard Case Calls For Prudence

THE CASE of Sgt. William Girard, the American soldier who shot and killed a Japanese woman on a firing range, is the kind of situation in which emotions can overrule judgment unless an effort is made to face the issue squarely.

The question is whether Sergeant Girard should be tried by a court martial of the U. S. Army or by a Japanese civilian court. The U. S. government has decided that, under the "status of forces" treaty between the U. S. and Japan, the Japanese have jurisdiction if they want to, which they do.

A federal district court has now intervened in a habeus corpus action, and the government's decision will be subjected to judicial review in this country.

Pending the outcome of this review, it would be a good idea for thoughtful Americans to keep their shirts on. People, for example, who say that Sergeant Girard is being "sold down the river" are using their emotions without using their heads.

The government's decision that the Japanese should have jurisdiction is based both on the language of the treaty and on concern that the word of the United States should be trusted, even when it hurts.

* * *

THE AMERICAN troops in Japan are not on occupation duty; they are guests whose presence is a matter of mutual interest.

President Eisenhower has said that he is certain Sergeant Girard would have a fair trial in a Japanese court. He says American legal officers have been more than satisfied with Japanese justice on numerous occasions.

We do not, of course, favor sending American boys into military service abroad and having them subject to whipped-up sentiment in foreign countries. But at the same time, this country cannot afford to take a position that puts the conduct of every American soldier completely beyond the control of the host nation.

Why the Delay?

THE MONESSEN City Council has had before it for many weeks a request that it formally petition the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi to fluoridate the water which the Authority furnishes to Monessen.

The Council tabled this request, we assume because it hesitated to make a decision before the votes were counted in last month's primary election. A small but very vocal group usually objects to fluoridation in any community where it is proposed, and that has been the case here.

But the matter is so important to so many people that the Council should not delay a day longer than is necessary for the members to study the matter and reach a decision.

We have already expressed ourselves as favoring fluoridation. Indeed, we do not see how any other conclusion is possible when the dental profession, the dental profession and nearly all the responsible public health authorities assert that this is a safe and economical way to reduce dental decay in children. These scientific authorities are all haywire at the same time on a matter of this kind. They're in sad shape for sure.

The Charleroi Authority, of course, serves Donora and Charleroi as well as Monessen. It would hardly be practical to fluoridate water supplies of just one of the three localities.

But somebody has to be first, and since it has been introduced first in Monessen, the city councilmen should not hesitate to take the lead.

The people of Charleroi and Donora surely are no less anxious than are we to take advantage of one of the most remarkable discoveries in the field of public health in this century. And they too will undoubtedly be urging their municipal representatives to help them.

Wise Move

THE DECISION of the Automobile Manufacturers Association to de-emphasize speed in the ads placed by its members is a real contribution to highway safety.

In other things, the auto makers will not participate in racing or speed tests of cars, and have agreed to quit using speed appeals in their selling programs.

The fact, of course, that drivers and not cars are the principal menaces on the highways. But the competition to build faster and more powerful automobiles for ordinary use has reached the point of diminishing returns. Now that the manufacturers have agreed to stop

Merry-Go-Round—

Decision in Girard Case Was Dulles'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It was an impassioned plea by Secretary of State Dulles that finally reversed President Eisenhower himself regarding a Japanese trial for Sgt. William Girard. The President had stood firmly behind the Army and Secretary of Defense Wilson that Girard should face an American court-martial, until Dulles threw the whole future of American - Asiatic policy into the argument.

Mr. Pearson

He warned that resentment against American GI's in Asia was so great that we might have to withdraw our troops from almost every Asiatic country. Japan, he said, had even threatened to scrap our mutual defense treaty if Sergeant Girard was tried by the United States, not Japan.

Dulles also warned that trouble was brewing in South Korea where South Koreans charge an American GI, Sgt. John Wilson, with an alleged robbery. This, on top of the killing of a Chinese "Peeping Tom", by Sgt. Robert Reynolds in Formosa, had played into Communist hands and aroused Asiatic populations to a dangerous pitch.

New Version of Case

Dulles also gave the cabinet a new version of the accidental killing of the Japanese housewife on the American firing range. He said that Sergeant Girard is believed to have deliberately coaxed the Japanese woman onto the firing range by offering to let her have some scrap metal.

When she got close, he fired an empty cartridge case from a grenade launcher to scare her. The shell case accidentally hit and killed her.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disputed Dulles's version of the story, claimed Girard fired in line of duty and was clearly under the Army's jurisdiction. At first Eisenhower stood with Wilson. But when the Secretary of State argued that our entire Asiatic relations, including those with the Philippines, were at stake, he agreed to a reversal.

NOTE — One important potential trouble spot to watch is Greece, where all Americans working for Uncle Sam still have the extraterritorial right of trial in their own courts no matter what they do. The State Department has long wanted to change this, but the Army is opposed. Greeks resent bitterly.

Humphrey's New Job

The historic Supreme Court decision divorcing General Motors and Du Pont is going to create some problems for retiring Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. He is to become head of National Steel which is 28 per cent owned by his former company, the M. A. Hanna Co.

Since Du Pont is now not permitted to own 20 per cent of General Motors, it's going to be difficult for the Hanna Company to hang on to its 28 per cent of National Steel.

Humphrey had built up the Hanna Company to be one of the most powerful industrial holding companies in America including coal, iron, steel, munitions, rayon, and even biscuits. His son has now succeeded him as head of the Hanna Company and Humphrey himself is becoming head of affiliated National Steel.

It will be interesting to see whether Humphrey's former colleague, Attorney General Brownell, now starts an anti-trust suit against Humphrey, as he's expected to.

NOTE — Do not be surprised when Humphrey resigns as he eases the cabinet's Machiavellian charge that Du Pont's capital gains tax which they sold their General Motors stock. Since the government is forcing the sale of the stock, it's debatable whether the sellers should be charged capital gains tax. This would mean an extra bill for Du Pont to pay. But this one will have to be decided by Humphrey's successor, Bob Anderson.

Lyndon Explains Parity

To most city people, farm parity is about as important as last year's baseball scores. However, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas recently posed some figures on parity — the relation between a farmer's income and his outgo costs — that may help to explain tooth-gnashing in the farm belt.

The Texas Senator noted the following price increases to farmers since 1947 (the first back-to-normal year after World War II):

Gasoline is up about 19 per cent, wages 56 per cent, tractors 40 per cent, fencing and milk cans, 70 per cent, steel fence posts 48 per cent, barbed wire, 51 per cent, average nails 54 per cent.

Senator Johnson then pointed out the following price declines since 1947 on what farmers sell: Wheat down 25 per cent, [illegible] per cent, hogs 37 per cent, chickens 11 per cent, eggs 20 per cent, cotton 30 per cent, corn, 30½ per cent.

John Bull in the China Shop

Today and Tomorrow—

A New China Policy

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Although our China policy remains unchanged, there has been a change of feeling about it. The number of true believers, such as Mr. Walter Robertson, have dwindled, and they are now able to control the policy only because no one in a responsible position has come forward with a convincing and satisfying alternative. That is why there was only a perfunctory reaction in Washington to the Formosa riots and to the British abandonment of the special trade restrictions. There is a general feeling that even if our China policy is still the best possible policy, it has become a poor and dismal policy nevertheless.

Mr. Lippmann

For all our assets are deteriorating. Chiang is getting older and his chance of ever restoring his power has disappeared. His record from any large mass of Chinese. Red China is still being denied a place in the United Nations, but only because our friends, though they do not agree with us, are willing to defer temporarily to our pleadings. There is almost certainly an adequate majority to give Peking the China seat in the U. N.

Formosa Frustrated

Within Formosa there exists, as the Formosa riots so surely indicated, a general sense of frustration. The fact of the matter is that while the Chinese who have fled to Formosa are protected on their island, they are also contained inside their island. This is a very unhealthy situation, to be safe, to be subsidized and to have no hope. Where can it lead? Where eventually but to the seduction of the island Chinese by the mainland Chinese and to a deal — after Chiang goes — which would put Formosa back under the rule of Peking?

This is the prospect, and only a counter-revolution on the mainland, which is highly improbable, could make the prospect different.

A reappraisal of our China policy is, therefore, necessary unless we wish to throw up our hands, confess that we are helpless, and that we must wait with resignation for the inevitable deterioration to produce a general disaster. If the best that we can hope to do is to hold fast and to stand pat with Mr. Robertson, the odds are very big that there will be a crash and that our whole position in the Far East will be involved in it.

Weakness of Policy

The glaring weakness of our China policy is that we are saying one thing about Formosa and we are doing something very different. What we are saying is that Chiang's government in Formosa is the legitimate and rightful government of all of China. What we are doing is to keep Chiang securely tied down in Formosa. We won't help his government to recover the territory over which it is supposed to be the legitimate sovereign. We won't permit it to try to recover its territory lest by a foolish adventure it would involve us in a war. Moreover, to speak plainly, we have not objected to having the word passed on to Chou En-lai in Peiping that there will be no military invasion of the mainland.

Although officially we do not recognize the government of Mao Tse Tsung, unofficially we are compelled to recognize its existence. For some time we have, in fact, been conducting diplomatic negotiations with Red China in Geneva.

And so while our legal policy is that there is one China with Chiang the head of its legitimate government, our real policy is to have two Chinas separated by the Seventh Fleet, one on the mainland and one in Formosa. Our real policy is fundamentally sound and right. It corresponds to our commitments of honor, to the political realities in the Far East, and to our strategic interests. But as things are now, it has a fatal weakness. It is almost certain to break down because, since it has no legal and political basis, the Chinese have every incentive to break it down.

Separate Formosa

In my view, the object of our China policy should now be a political settlement with all the Chinese based on the principle that Formosa is to have special status. We should propose, it seems to me, that under the protection and guardianship of the United Nations, Formosa be recognized as autonomous, demilitarized, and neutralized Chinese territory with its own seat in the General Assembly. If Red China agreed to such settlement, it would become the basis of a peace treaty.

A settlement of this kind would legalize, regularize and consolidate the real situation which now exists. All that would be given up would be the legal fictions, that Chiang's government is the true government of China, that Mao's government, which is undisputably the government of the mainland, has no legal existence. The settlement would confirm what is really important in what we actually have — namely a Formosa that is an asylum for the anti-Communist Chinese and an island territory that is not in unfriendly hands.

Valley's Plans Must Attack Air Pollution

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Attempts at civic rejuvenation in the communities of the Monongahela Valley, I'm more convinced than ever, cannot achieve maximum results if they do not include effective smoke control measures.

Smoke and dirt are by some margin our most serious civic enemies. More than anything else they detract from the desirability of these communities as places to live and work and do business.

There can be no argument about this. The fact is recognized by people in the Valley as well as by outsiders. What do you suppose is the real reason, if it isn't smoke and dirt, why such people as steel company executives contrive to live as far as possible from steel mills?

That's why I say that any serious plans to make the Valley's communities better places to live simply must include provisions for smoke control. Otherwise they aren't going to be serious plans.

The master plan for the future development of Monessen is scheduled to come from the Planning Commission late this year. And the Commission has announced that it will include a workable program for air pollution control.

Programs Workable

There is no question as to whether such a program would be workable, even though many problems involved in controlling smoke and dirt from steel furnaces have not yet been fully solved. There is still much that could be done.

The question is: what will we do with such a program when we have it? Will we have the courage, the energy and the imagination to pursue it?

Donora, too, is considering whether it should develop a master plan. And there of all places, the scene of the terrible "death smog" of 1948, smoke control would have to be part of any community plan worth talking about.

I'm not at all worried about the abilities of the planners to attack this problem in a practical way without imposing undue hardships on our industry. What bothers me is whether we will muster the civic gumption to do what they tell us can be done.

The Air Pollution Control Association met last week in St. Louis, and it heard that city's mayor, Raymond R. Tucker, discuss the face-lifting that occurred in St. Louis even before the Pittsburgh program got started.

Smoke Control First

He said in so many words that the rehabilitation of St. Louis would never have taken place if the smoke that once plagued the city had not first been eliminated or reduced.

"Drab, dreary days caused by smoke," said Mayor Tucker, "are not the proper backdrop for a progressive city."

So St. Louis first cleared its air, and then it went on to attack slums, modernize its streets, expand its hospitals and develop better recreation and cultural facilities.

Mayor Tucker added this comment which it might be well for us to keep in mind here:

"A successful smoke program cannot be achieved through partisan politics or favoritism to either individuals or large corporations.

"If you pursue a program that affects everybody but your friends, you will find you have many friends and an awful lot of smoke."

I come back to my original statement. A plan for a better community which ignores the community's biggest nuisance is not a plan which deserves serious consideration. And citizens who say they want a better community but aren't willing to attack such a nuisance may be kidding themselves — but they won't kid the rest of the world.

Rare Prize Falls to Persistent 'Birder'

By JOHN H. DAY

Why a bird should be called the prothonotary warbler I don't know. With a name like that it seems that he should have been properly elected in proper balloting by all the feathered burghers of his bailiwick. But there is such a bird and he is one of the most radiantly beautiful of the colorful warbler clan — also one of the rarest hereabouts. Many an outdoorsman has spent an entire life afield and never laid eyes on this bird. When you do catch up to him, mark it down as a red-letter day.

Recently we moved into a famous marsh area for a weekend of moseying leisurely about in some of the most fascinating wild country I know. The week before a group of ornithologists from all parts of the country had converged on this spot and the word was that they had seen the rare prothonotary in his favorite swampy haunts. The morning of our arrival some of our own people had also seen the bird and were able to pin-point the location.

Bright and early Sunday morning we drove out to the nearest jump-off point, asked permission of the farmer to walk across his fields toward the marsh, and started the search for a bird about the size of a house sparrow, with blue-gray wings and the entire head and breast such a deep yellow as to be almost orange. Somewhere in the wet edgings beyond the wooded knoll just ahead we hoped to track down the quarry.

Stump Fence a Relic

A fascinating pine-stump fence edged the sketchy roadway we followed. Indigo buntings were singing in the treetops and a yellow-billed cuckoo kept predicting the rain which drove us out of there at noon-time. That stump fence is a relic of the days when tremendous white pine forests covered all that land. The stumps were estimated to be perhaps 100 years old.

We crossed an abandoned railroad right-of-way and walked into a park-like pasture area where gaunt hemlocks and swamp maples and even a few hawthorns stood about in Quaker meeting. There were some warblers active in the trees but the light was poor and we were unable to pin them down. A red-tailed hawk came hunting across and moved on out over the open water to our left.

The book said our bird sang "tweet tweet tweet tweet" in one pitch and in emphatic manner. After an hour or so vainly chasing whatever feathered creature showed up, I sorted out the songs which were ringing out all about us. Sure enough, somewhere ahead was a bird giving out with the prescribed music. I moved away from the party, advancing a hundred yards or so to the marsh edge, where small willows and other wetland saplings stood knee-deep in the water.

That ringing song was closer now and kept coming. Hard me. Just then the blessed sun came out from hiding and the prothonotary flew into the willows not 20 feet from me, giving me a full closeup of his gorgeous coloring in the golden light. For 10 minutes I had him all to myself as he moseyed about in the willows, unafraid and full of song to the bursting point.

Bird Described

His bright black eye showed vividly against his yellow cheek; as did his long black bill. The underside of his tail appeared to be pure white and I thought I noticed a white edge to his wings. His head and throat and breast fairly glowed as the sun burnished the golden yellow coloring. I called in the rest of the group and we had the rare little fellow in sight and hearing for at least half an hour.

There's a real thrill in meeting up with a new bird. At long last, after many years of searching marsh and hill country, mountain top and valley, the right combination falls into place, and bird and countryman come face to face. Over the next rise may be yet another new discovery — one more to add to the life list of wild birds seen and positively identified in the field.

The countryman will never grow rich in this pursuit, but he'll never know boredom, nor will he lack for friendly companionship. And as he adds a new feathered acquaintance here and there along the way, he soon becomes hopelessly addicted to the captivating sport of "birding".

St. Cajetan Sodality in June Meeting

Reports of various activities and plans for summer events highlighted the June meeting of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Cajetan R. C. Church held in the Church Hall on Wednesday evening. The Rev. Leonard Sanesi, spiritual director, gave the opening prayer.

Reports were given by Yvonne Pansino and Gloria Lupoli. Joan Dustolfo reported on a trip made to Greensburg on May 19, by 30 girls, who are members of the St. Cajetan, Holy Name and St. Sebastian Young Ladies Sodalities. Prefect Betty Manderino reported on the Mother's Day breakfast.

A bake sale was planned for tomorrow after each mass and the girls were requested to bring their baked goods before 9 p. m. this evening to the Parish House. Lenore DeVitto was named chairman and on the committee will be Betty Mandarino, Betty Greco, Patty Romasco, Ann Trilli and Antoinette Caruso.

Plan Picnic

This month three of the Sodality members, Betty Persico, Mary Reno and Joyce Swalin will be married. Plans were discussed for a picnic to be held in July and appointed as the committee in charge were Patty Bisceglia and Adele Alvarez.

The constitution drawn up by the committee was read with the approval of Father Sanesi. Lenore DeVitto was elected to serve as vice president since Dianne Salotti will be going to College.

The award for the night was won by Angeline Trozzo.

Closing Dinner Is Planned for Two Groups Here

Final plans are being made for the combined B'nai B'rith Women and Kneseth Israel Sisterhood closing dinner, which will be held June 11 at Twin Coaches. It will honor the retiring officers of both organizations.

Mrs. Leonard Cherkin, Mrs. John Hoffman and Mrs. A. Edward Wilen are chairmen in charge of arrangements. On their committee will be Mrs. Bernard Bergstein, Mrs. Etta Borof, Mrs. Bernard Shire, Mrs. Harold Cramer, Mrs. Paul Cramer and Mrs. Daniel Stern.

Mrs. Leonard Cherkin will be toastmaster and reservations are now being accepted.

Final Plans Completed for Selection of Contestants

Final plans for the Miss Mon Valley Pageant to be staged at Twin Coaches next Wednesday night will be completed over the week end. Two more contestants have entered the competition, which promises to be a keen one to decide who will wear the crown as the prettiest, most talented and the girl with the best personality.

Donna Bellone, of Monessen and Pat Marietta, of Charleroi, are the final two contestants to be accepted into the competition.

Miss Bellone is the daughter of Mrs. Camer Costa, of 210 Rostraver St., was graduated from Monessen High School in 1955 and attended Douglas School of Business. She studied accordion for three years and also took singing lessons. She will present a musical specialty for her talent.

She is five feet, three inches tall and weighs 119 pounds and is employed at Monack Bros. in Charleroi. Music is her hobby.

Patricia Jane Marietta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Marietta, of Fisher Heights, is a graduate of Charleroi High School and attended Grove City College for a year. She is a member of Alpha Beta Tau sorority and attended Griffith Modeling School and studied dramatics at the Pittsburgh Playhouse School of Theatre. Miss Marietta would like to continue her study at Actors Studio and will demonstrate her dramatic talents as her contest presentation. She is five feet, five and a half inches tall and weighs 115 pounds.

She is employed at the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. and is a past worthy adviser of the Order of Rainbow for Girls. For hobbies she sews and designs dresses. She was head cheerleader in High School, was secretary of her class for three years, feature editor of the school newspaper and was in the class play.

All contestants are pictured in displays in two local stores, Rosenson's, where the television set, which the firm donated as top prize is also shown and Louis Studio, on Donner Ave. Gus Arcuri, of Louis Studio has donated his services to the Junior Women's Club, sponsors of the contest, as official pageant photographer. The crown to be presented to the winner has been donated by Seymour's and is on display there.

A list of finalists will be released on Monday after the contest committee tabulates the ballots in the preliminary competition.

Patricia Ann Yost Is Feted On Birthday

Patricia Ann Yost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Yost, of Belle Vernon R. D. 1, observed her first birthday anniversary on Friday with a party at her home.

Guests included Russell Yost, brother of the guest of honor, Billy Kerr, Cheryl Rose Mazur, Kimberly Marie Kerr and the little girl's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yost.

Luncheon was served along with a decorated birthday cake topped with a lighted candle. Pictures were taken and Patricia Ann was presented with many gifts.

Girl Scouts of Troop 46 Plan Pittsburgh Trip

Girl Scout Troop 46 under the leadership of Mrs. Julia Amendola and Mrs. Dorothy Doty plan a trip to Pittsburgh next Tuesday to see "The Ten Commandments" at the Warner Theatre.

The girls have invited the committee mothers to accompany them. They are Mrs. Florence Hughes, Mrs. Agnes Fedorchak and Mrs. Margaret Sterbak. The party will also have dinner in Pittsburgh.

The trip will be the final activity of the year for the girls.

Sunday School Plans Social

The Sunday School of the Union Baptist Church is having a symposium on the subject, "Ten Commandments — Their Explanation" this evening at 7 o'clock at the Church.

A turkey dinner will be served and 10 valley Sunday Schools have been invited to take part in the program. A Commandment has been assigned to each group.

Ted Walters is superintendent of the school, Miss Lillian Turnipseed, secretary and the Rev. E. W. Jarrett, church pastor.

The Croatian Ladies Guild Plans Picnic

The Croaktian Catholic Ladies Guild discussed preliminary plans for the annual picnic at the business session held in the Croatian Hall, Schoonmaker Ave., Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Theodore Benkovic led in the opening prayer and the president, Wilma Thomas was in charge of the business session.

Mary Gustin, secretary and Elizabeth Beres, treasurer, gave reports and Mrs. Stephen Smoke reported on the ill members.

Vice President Frances Yakovac reported that recent events held to benefit the church building fund were successful.

The picnic was set for July 28 on the Croatian picnic grounds in Pricedale. Games and a bake sale will highlight the affair and a meeting of the committee in charge will be held to make final plans for the outing.

The group agreed to sponsor a bazaar in October and Barbara Luketich will be in charge.

The guild meetings will be suspended for the months of July and August and will resume again on Sept. 4.

Cards and games were played after the business session and winning prizes were Mrs. Elizabeth Beres, Mrs. Mary Cvetan, Mrs. Helen Matush, Mrs. Frances Milasincic and Frances Yakovac.

On the committee in charge were Mrs. Dorothy Novakovich, chairman, Mira Bakale, Mrs. Agnes Matko, Mrs. Nancy Penich, Mrs. Rose Poverzenich and Mrs. Wilma Thomae.

Boosts Vulcan Quarterback Drive

Dr. Michael Duda, the new president at California State Teachers College, is spearheading the drive to increase membership in the Vulcan Quarterback Club. That organization supplies financial assistance for needy students. In the past few years, more than $30,000 has been spent toward that end. Currently the Club numbers only 286 CSTC grads. Dr. Duda feels that the worthy organization should have "at least" 1,000 members. He's particularly disturbed that only seven Vulcan grads from Monessen are on the current roll. The former superintendent of schools here figures the city should have many more than that.

* * *

Incidentally it costs only $10 per year to belong to the Vulcan Club. In turn, members are entitled to sit in on home football games without charge and to attend the annual post-season banquet. According to Dr. Duda, it's quite a bargain when you think it over. He'd like to see all CSTC grads hereabout join up in the next few weeks . . . Those Memroial Day races at the Mancini Boat Center near Monongahela were obviously successful. Another event is planned for July 28 . . . By the way no admission was charged for the Memorial Day event but it cost a $1 to park your car anywhere near the river.

MHS Baseball 'Aide' Marries

Herman Keith, former Rostraver footballer who did his student teaching at Monessen High the past year, made Janet Sickels, of Webster, his bride the other night. Keith assisted John Hayduk with the MHS baseballers the past season . . . By the way, the new Mrs. Keith is a sister of Walt Sickles, former Rostraver and CSTC baseball standout who played for Monessen CIO in the Mon Valley League a couple of years back . . . Who says basketball officials are blind? Tony Senopole, the Ford City whistle-tooter shot a hole-in-one the other day at the Kittanning golf course. His ace came on the 125 yard No. 6 hole.

* * *

Apparently School Boards everywhere have their athletic problems. In Greensburg a real hassle developed the other night when the Board elected William P. Douglas as basketball coach over the recommendation of the athletic committee. The vote was 3-2. One of the directors on the losing end immediately suggested that the athletic committee be disbanded since the board never followed its recommendations anyway . . . The new Greensburg coach is not really new. He tutored the Lions basketballers some years back. Lately he has directed the cage fortunes at Brentwood. His coaching salary will be $1200 while his teaching pay will be $5700 for a grand total of $6900. That's pretty grand, too.

Phillies Could Be Contenders

The Philadelphia Phillies just might wind up as serious pennant contenders this season. At least that's the considered opinion of Donora's Stan Musial. "They have three or four rookies that could carry the club all the way," suggests Stan . . .In Charleroi, there's considerable agitation over the selection of dual winners for the Leslie Morgan Award, which was originally set up to go to the school's outstanding athlete. In recent years, two boys have been selected and some of the old-timers feel the new policy is not in agreement with the original intent of the award . . . And how about the WPIAL baseball season winding up on time for a change even though the first couple of weeks of activity was washed away by rain.

Ricketts Is Going Great in Baseball

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

A "moving" fast ball may force Dick Ricketts, the former Duquesne All - America basketball player, to give up the cage sport after two successful years in the National Basketball Association and devote his efforts exclusively to baseball.

The 23-year-old Ricketts has a 4-1 record with the Rochester Red Wings this season and they say that if he improves his curve and change-up he could make the big league grade. Opponents also say that trying to hit him when he lets loose of the ball is "like having somebody throw off the top of a roof."

Ricketts isn't the first ballplayer who had to make such a career decision. Such current stars as 6-foot, 8-inch Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves as well as Frank Baumholtz of the Phillies and Dick Groat of the Pirates all could have had successful pro basketball careers but decided on baseball instead.

Others, Too

There have been others too who could have made it in baseball but decided they preferred basketball. These include Bill Sharman of the Boston Celtics, Neil Johnston of the Warriors, who was forced to shift because he came down with a sore pitching arm, and Philadelphia's Jack George, who was under contract to the Red Sox.

Les Arries, former consultant to promoter Jack Lenco in the Floyd Patterson - Hurricane Jackson heavyweight title bout at the Polo Grounds July 29, played football at Northwestern just before World War I. At the time, a Chicago sportswriter picked Arries on his All-Western team and the grateful Arries told him:

"I'll leave you something in my will."

"What?" asked the writer.

"Why," said Arries, "the clipping, of course."

Myfords Rap MPSA By 20 to 5

Those surprising Myfords jolted MPSA from first place in the City Softball League standings last night with a rousing 20-5 win.

The Myfords pushed nine runs across in the first inning on six hits, five walks and an error. They tallied five more times in the second to insure the game in a hurry.

Veteran Tony Turcaso coasted to his fourth pitching success of the season. He also contributed four singles to help his own cause.

O'Toole hit a homer and double for the winners while Herb Mills had a pair of safeties for MPSA.

The win gave the Myfords a 4-2 record for the season and moved them into a second place tie with Italian Hall.

CIO Upsets Lions In Pony League

Last place CIO tightened the PONY League race last night by surprising the front-running Lions, 6-3.

As a result, a mere game separates the last place team from the first place club in the current standings.

In another PONY tussle last night, the Ravens swamped the Eagles, 14-0.

Eton Karenchak was the big star for CIO. He stopped the Lions on three hits.

Two of the three safeties were home run clouts by Ted Domenick.

No Trouble

The Ravens had no trouble with the Eagles. Billy Batiste pitched one-hit ball to earn credit for the win.

Batiste also had a double and two singles at bat. Bill Dawson chipped in with the same offensive contribution.

The PONY League scene will be idle now until next Tuesday when the Eagles will meet CIO and the Ravens will take on the Lions.

Line scores and standings follow:

Wiffi Smith Keeps Lead in Ladies PGA

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Wondrous Wiffi Smith, hailed by the experts as a new Babe Zaharias, carried a hot putter and a well - trained nine iron into the third round of the Ladies' PGA championship today, four strokes ahead of the field.

Miss Smith, who has been playing golf for half her 20 years, dazzled a large following over the 5,761-yard Churchill Valley Country Club course Friday by one-putting seven holes and then holding back her payoff shot until the 18th hole.

It was on the 18th green that she let her putter cool in favor of a trusty nine iron to sink a perfect 30-foot chip shot for a birdie three that gave her a one-over men's par 71 at the halfway mark of the 72-hole, $7,500 event.

Wiffi's 71 combined with an opening round 68 — a women's record here—for a 36-hole total of 139 and a four-stroke bulge over her closest competitor, Louise Suggs, the LPGA president from Sea Island, Ga. Miss Suggs was 68-74—143 going into today's 18.

In third place were defending titlist Marlene Bauer Hagge, of Dallas, Tex., and Joyce Ziske, of Waterford, Wis., both with 144s. Tied for fifth with 145s were Alice Bauer, of Palos Park, Ill., and veteran Patty Berg, of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miss Smith and Miss Suggs battled on near even terms through 14 holes Friday, but the latter found the going rough on the 15th when her tee shot hit the only tree on the left side of the fairway. The ball dropped into a creek. She couldn't recover after the one-stroke penalty and took a double bogey six.

Aiding Miss Smith's "spectacular" on the 18th was a little bit of luck. Her drive from the fairway skimmed across a 12-foot long sand trap to the left of the green and came to rest on smooth grass about six feet from the lip.

Only two greens earlier, she had dumped in a seven-footer and, on a front nine hole, putted one in from 18 feet out. This time she went to a nine iron and it paid off as the ball lofted in air for about eight feet, then rolled into the cup.

"It was just about the same as it was for me on the first day," she said. "Everything just went well. There wasn't any particular hole that gave me trouble."

Friday's only par was turned in by Marily Smith, of Wichita, ans., who posted a 34-36—70.

A highlight of today's third-round play will center on Kathy Cornelius, the Ladies National Open queen who will match her score against women golfers across the nation. She had a two over par 72 Friday but hopes to "give the girls a tough one to shoot at today."

"Of course my first thoughts will be on this tournament, and it wouldn't make me feel badly if I came up with a 68 or 69," she said.

Also on tap today is resumption of a 72-hole amateur event in which defending champ Maureen Riley, New Castle, Pa., holes a three-stroke margin with a 159.

Midget League Meeting Tomorrow

An important Midget Football League meeting will be held tomorrow at 6 p. m. in the Ravens Club.

At that time, the purchase of new equipment will be discussed. All directors and coaches are to be present.

VFW Wins in Suspended Game To Near Title

There were no regularly-scheduled games in the Little League last night but VFW clinched at least a tie for the first half title in the American Division just the same.

The Vets slammed the second place Ravens, 20-8, in the completion of a suspended game.

A little later, the Ravens kept alive their flickering hopes by polishing off Park Service, 17-9, in another completion of a suspended tussle.

The Vets had to face only three batters to wind up their game. Fred Usher fanned two and forced the third to pop out.

There was lots of action in the Park Service — Ravens game though. That score was 8-7 in the third inning when play was continued.

The Ravens iced it by scoring nine more times in the sixth.

Completed line scores follow:

Park Service	115	002—9	8 4

Charleroi Tops New Eagle, 1-0

Charleroi nipped New Eagle, 1-0, in a brilliant Mon Valley League pitchers duel yesterday.

Fred Uhlman of the winners "outhurled" Jess Leach of the losers, even though Leach limited his foes to a mere hit.

The only safety came off the bat of George Zuraw in the first inning after Larry Papini had walked and stolen second. That produced the game's only run.

Uhlman gave up seven hits, but was tough in the clutch. He thus won his fifth game in six starts this season.

Cycle Drivers Seek New Mark At Heidelberg

The world's 10-mile record will be the big target when the country's top motorcycle riders run at Heidelberg Raceway today and tomorrow afternoon.

The record should belong to Everett Brashear, Beaumont, Tex., who twice bettered the world mark at Heidelberg last season. But his performance missed the books because a regulation white line had not been laid around the inside of the track.

Officials of the American Motorcycle Assn. already have checked in at the track and assure that there will be no such slip-up this time.

Brashear is in the field for the races this week end along with National Champion Joe Leonard of California and his No. 1 challenger Al Gunter.

Leading AMA riders from Western Pennsylvania, headed by Elmer Morra of Pittsburgh, also will take a crack at the national champ — and that elusive record.

The cycle riders will run on the quarter-mile Saturday night, 8:30 p.m. and on the half-mile Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

Fayette City Rips Van Voorhis, 9-0

Fayette City blanked Van Voorhis, 9-0, last night behind the pitching and batting of Mike Panich.

Panich not only fashioned a six-hit shutout, but he slammed two homers and a single to drive in five markers.

Jim Wujcik had a pair of safeties for the Vans.

Mon Valley League Game Takes Only Hour and Half to Play

It took the Monessen Ozarks less than an hour and a half to polish off Donora, 2-0, in Mon Valley Baseball League action last night at the Zinc Town diamond.

By winning, the Ozarks improved their season record to seven wins and seven losses.

As usual, Bill Mitnick — the Ozark's one-man pitching staff—fashioned the shutout. He stopped the hard-hitting Donorans on two hits, fanning nine in the process.

Mitnick's mound rival, John Chatlak, was good, too. He permitted just two hits while fanning eight.

Two in Fourth

However Chatlak yielded both safeties in the fourth inning when the Ozarks scored their two runs after two men had been retired.

Carl Crawley opened the fourth inning with a bouncer in front of the plate. Donora catcher Dave Russell fielded the ball but hit Crawley with his throw for an error.

Carl moved to second on a sacrifice and stole third. He had to hold on another fly, though.

Then Neil Hill, who has been a prize clutch hitter all season long, slammed a liner past third base to produce Carl. Bruce Pezzelle also singled and Duane Miller was hit-by-a-pitched ball to load the sacks.

Forces Run In

Chatlak then walked Bill Valla to force in a run.

Except for that inning, both teams spent most of the night going up and down in order.

The game was over at 7:30.

The Ozarks will resume action tomorrow, appearing at Perryopolis.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Deep Grass Shots

Whenever you are in deep grass around the green, a deeply lofted club should be chosen whether the situation calls for the ball to be pitched over some intervening obstacle or not. You want to bring the ball quickly up and out of the deep grass. If the ball is made to travel even a few inches through the grass before emerging, it will be most difficult to judge the amount of force to be applied.

This little shot from deep grass near the green is essentially a right hand blow, so the grip should be firmer in the fingers of the right hand.

Keep the stroke on this shot crisp and firm. If there is any looseness as you come into the ball through the deep grass, the clubhead may be turned or slowed too much — possibly both. Take a reasonably short backswing, strike a crisp downward blow, and follow through toward the hole. Keep the head firmly in place until the ball is on its way greenward.

If you're afraid that such a crisp, downward blow may send the ball too far, open the face of your club a little. Keep the face open as you go through the ball by seeing that the hands do not roll over.

Score's Return Set Back to Aug.

CLEVELAND (UP)—It'll be at least August before southpaw Herb Score pitches for the Cleveland Indians again.

That was the word the Tribe received from Score's doctors Friday. They said the 24-year-old left hander, now recuperating from an injury to his right eye at his uncle's Hagerstown, Md., home, would not be able to resume workouts for "four or five weeks."

Score, who is scheduled to come here for further examinations late next week, probably would require at least 10 days or two weeks to work himself back into shape following his first workouts, so the doctors concluded he would not be able to pitch again before August.

Score suffered the eye injury when hit by a line drive off Gil McDougald's bat in a game with the Yankees, May 7.

Dodgers, Phillies Ready to Overtake Redlegs in Wild Race

By MILTON RICHMAN

The snarled-up National League race was tighter than a new pair of shoes today, with both the Dodgers and Phillies threatening to step over the floundering, first-place Redlegs unless they hurry up and get a move on.

Rookie pitcher Jack Sanford is the fellow who may help the Phillies horn in on the lead. He hurled them to within a half-game of first place Friday night when he struck out 13 batters in beating the Chicago Cubs, 1-0, for his seventh victory.

Not to be outdone, Roger (Skinny) Craig also led Brooklyn to within a half-game of the top with a three-hit 6-3 triumph over Cincinnati. Craig, who pitched his first complete game in 18 starts, gave the Dodgers their fourth straight victory while handing the Redlegs their fourth loss in the last five games.

The Milwaukee Braves also contributed to the general bottleneck in the league standings by climbing to within two games of first place with a 5-0 victory over Pittsburgh, while the St. Louis Cardinals moved within 4½ games of the top with an 11-inning 5-3 triumph over the New York Giants.

Chisox Retain Margin

In the American League, Baltimore beat Chicago, 3-2, in 11 innings but the White Sox retained their five-game lead when Detroit defeated the second - place New York Yankees, 6-3. Washington licked Cleveland, 11-7, and Kansas City topped Boston, 6-3.

Sanford's 13 strikeouts gave him the National League lead in that department with a total of 60. He yielded only three hits in extending his scoreless string to 18 innings. The Phils scored the only run of the game off Dave Hillman in the fourth.

Homers by Rube Walker and Don Zimmer helped Craig to his victory over the Redlegs. One of the three hits given up by Craig was a ninth-inning homer by Ed Bailey. Johnny Klippstein suffered the loss.

Southpaw Warren Spahn of the Braves scattered seven Pirate hits in nailing down his sixth victory over Bob Purkey. Bill Bruton paced Milwaukee's nine-hit offensive with a single, double and triple.

Del Ennis' two - run homer in in the 11th off Curt Barclay broke a tie that had existed between the Cards and Giants since the sixth inning. Larry Jackson gained credit for his seventh victory. Hank Sauer hit his 10th homer for the Giants.

The Orioles beat the White Sox when Bob Nieman doubled in the 11th and came home on Tito Francona's single. George Zuverink was the winning pitcher and Jack Harshman the loser.

Mantle Hits 14th Homer

A four-run rally by Detroit in the seventh inning knocked out Yankee starter Don Larsen. Frank Bolling's two-run single off reliever Bob Grim highlighted the Tigers' winning rally. Jim Bunning struck out 10 batters in notching his 10th triumph. Mickey Mantle hit his 14th homer for the Yanks and J. W. Porter connected for Detroit.

Washington ripped six Cleveland pitchers for 16 hits, including three by Big Jim Lemon, in fashioning its victory. Rocky Colavito blasted two homers. Chuck Stobbs, who has lost 10 straight games this season, had his first victory of the year in his grasp and was still in front when he was relieved in the seventh, but the Tribe tied the score and reliever Truman Clevenger picked up the triumph.

Catcher Hal Smith of Kansas City connected for a homer, two doubles and a single in his club's victory over Boston. Wally Burnette went the route for the victory. Willard Nixon was the loser.

Pirates Lose Again as Braves Romp, 5 to 0

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who battled out of the National League cellar with a four-game winning streak, today were headed back down after their third loss.

Only percentage points saved the Bucs from the last place roost now occupied by the Chicago Cubs. Both teams stand 13½ games out of first place but the Pirates have a .326 percentage and the Cubs a .310 rating.

The Bucs, who have been able to muster no more than a single run in their last 27 innings, were shutout 5-0 by the Milwaukee Braves Friday night. It was their second blanking in as many days.

Southpaw Warren Spahn yielded only seven hits and gave but one walk as he worked the latest mastery over the Pirates. All the Buc hits were singles and no Pittsburgh runner managed to get past second base.

The Pirates used four hurlers with Bob Purkey taking the loss, his fourth defeat against as many victories.

Four Hurlers

The Braves got off to a quick start with two runs in the second inning on a single by Del Crandall. Bill Bruton, who collected a single and a double earlier, added a triple in the seventh and he led a parade of three Braves crossing the plate in the frame.

The Pirates try again against the Braves this afternoon. Vernon Law (2-2) was the scheduled starter for Pittsburgh against either Ray Crone (2-1) or Bubba Phillips (2-1) for Milwaukee.

Fullmer Scores Win over Jones

CHICAGO (UP) — Ex - middleweight champion Gene Fullmer was back on the comeback trail today with a victory over Tiger Jones.

"Sure, Jones had me in a corner almost all through last night's fight," Fullmer said. "But that's the way I had it figured. I wanted him to corner me. He just fell right into place."

Jones' manager, Bob Melnik, said he was "disgusted" with the decision.

Jones, 29, from Yonkers, N.Y., said he kept yelling at Fullmer to "come on and fight."

"How are you going to fight a guy who's running?" Jones asked. "If Fullmer had run backwards any faster I never would have caught him."

Fullmer, 25, didn't go into the matter, but merely said he "changed styles to meet Jones."

Moore to Defend Against Anthony

GELNHAUSEN, Germany (UP) — Archie Moore, world light-heavyweight champion who was suspended Friday by the National Boxing Assn., was scheduled to telephone the United States today to arrange for a title defense against Tony Anthony of New York.

The NBA announced at Grand Rapids, Mich., that it was suspending Moore for failure to sign for a defense by June 7. It had ordered Moore weeks ago to sign by that date.

"I will telephone from Mannheim to go into the details," Moore said Friday, commenting on a report that Anthony's manager, Ernie Braca, had offered to guarantee Moore $100,000 for the bout. "I'm still committed in Germany for about 10 days but I want to leave as soon as possible to get the contract for the title defense signed."

NCAA Diamond Tourney Begins

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — The nation's top collegiate baseball teams opened the battle for the 1957 college world series crown today.

The eight NCAA district champions met in the first round of play in the gruelling double elimination meet which requires the winning team to play five, and possibly six games in as many days.

Texas, one of the tourney favorites, was to open the meet against the eastern district winner, Connecticut. Penn State was to meet Florida State, while an evening twin-bill pitted California against Colorado State and Notre Dame against Iowa State.

Fish Fee Boost Reaches Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to increase fishing license fees by 75 cents was reported to the floor of the state Senate today.

The measure boosts license charges from $2.50 to $3.25. The issuing agent would receive 15 cents instead of 10 cents.

In addition, $1 from each fee would be earmarked strictly for the leasing and development of public fishing waters. The bill already has passed the House.

Bill Ross Will Get Car Ready For That Trip

Planning on taking a late Spring and early Summer vacation trip somewhere?

If so, you'll want to make sure your automobile is in fine fettle for such an adventure so nothing will happen on the way out or the return trip.

That means you'd be wise to drive to the Bill Ross Pennzoil Service station, 111 Donner avenue, and have it lubricated, new Pennzoil of the proper warm-weather grade put in the crankcase, the battery checked, hose connections, the radiator and other fundamental parts checked.

This costs you only a very small amount of money. In fact, many of the services mentioned are free at the Bill Ross Pennzoil service. But it may result in saving you a lot of inconvenience plus a costly garage bill by avoiding a breakdown.

Besides, motoring is a lot more fun when you can drive along worry - free knowing everything about your car at least has been checked by an expert to avoid difficulties.

Remember, too, your car represents a pretty heavy investment so protect it by these period inspections.

A good lubrication job and new oil in the crankcase every 1,000 miles is the best precaution you can take and at such a small financial outlay that it shouldn't worry you in the least.

The Bill Ross Penzoil Service station at 111 Donner avenue is also an official state inspection station, so better have this attended to while you are there.

Landscaping Service of Henry's Nursery Beautifies Any Home

More and more people in the Valley today, as throughout the entire country, are getting beauty-conscious when it comes to landscaping service, knowing how much it means to their home and its surroundings.

It's the cheapest investment you can make in a home beautification program because good trees and shrubbery last for many, many years — perhaps for your lifetime, so the original cost, plus a little care, is very often your last one.

Henry's Nursery is located on the Express Highway, two miles from Belle Vernon Bridge toward Bentleyville, phone HUdson 3-7218.

Here at this modern nursery you will obtain the kind of landscaping service that will mean so much to adding beauty and charm to your home's surroundings. Also there's a large stock to select from — evergreens, flowering shrubs, roses, hedges, fruit and shade trees, fertilizer, lawn seed, peat moss, and evergreens. A visit to this nursery will give you a wide choice of fine stock to select from, and Henry Potega, the proprietor, will be glad to assist you in making your selection if you so desire his services.

You'll get healthy, solid stock that will give you a fine growth and in no time at all you'll scarcely know your home and its beautiful surroundings. Your neighbors will admire what you are doing to add charm to their locality, too, and it will be fun watching everything grow and blossom out.

Your property will likewise increase in value because good landscaping does add to its valuation.

Better visit Henry's Nursery right now and make plans for landscaping your home.

Firesweep Series in '57 DeSoto Newest in History, Cost Less

Just drop in at Frank's Service Garage, 122 East Donner avenue, DeSoto-Plymouth sales and service, and you'll be delighted with the all-new, lower-priced Firesweep, a third model that makes the company's 15-car line the largest ever offered in the division's 28-year history.

The new model is described by L. Irving Woolson, DeSoto president, as "the greatest value ever offered in the medium price field."

The new car features many automotive advances, including a revolutionary new suspension system, a newly designed V-8 engine, a triple-range puh-button transmission, and an all-weather new air condition system.

According to Mr. Woolson, the Firesweep, with its sister cars, the Fireflite and Firedome, now gives DeSoto a price coverage in 91 per cent of today's car market, excepting the very low-priced field.

A highlight feature of the new DeSoto Firesweep is a 122-inch wheelbase incorporating a number of revolutionary suspension advances. This results in the smoothest, most comfortable ride possible and is termed Torsion-Aire Ride.

Mechanical torsion bars replace conventional front springs, save space and reduce weight by 30 percent. Safety-Sphere joints reduce steering gear friction, greatly reducing steering effort. An anti-brake dip device, which reduces forward pitch by 85 percent, is also standard.

Rear-end stability is increased by mounting rear springs outboard of the frame. DeSoto's redesigned Oriflow shock absorbers give heightened performance on any road surface.

All suspension components are isolated from the heavily re-inforced frame by rubber bushings. This greatly reduces road shock, provides quieter operation and minimizes lubrication points from 23 to only eight.

Also contributing to the Firesweep's smoother ride and easier handling are new 14-inch tires with a wider tread for greater traction and better cornering ad requiring only 22 lbs. air pressure. Together with the new "step-down" chassis, they help account for the Firesweep's unusually low silhouette, measuring barely four feet seven and one-half inches from the road to roof.

The completely new DeSoto Firesweep engine is a V-8 powerplant rated at a highly-competitive 245 hp, with a 325 cubic inch displacement, 8.5 to 1 compression ratio and a new "high-intensity" camshaft. Its polyspheric combustion chambers give higher thermal efficiency and prove economical operation with "regular" gasoline.

The Firesweep offers four transmissions, including DeSoto's new Torque-Flite, which combines a high-performance torque converter with a 3-speed planetary gear box. It retains the push-button type control which won wide favor in '56, but adds a fifth button to control a new third forward speed that affords greater acceleration at low-speeds, increased flexibility in city traffic and better fuel economy. A standard transmission, standardt ransmission with overdrive, and Power-Flite are also offered.

Five DeSoto Firesweep models are offered: a four-door sedan, two and four-door Sportsman hardtops, the Shopper two-seat station wagon based on Chrysler Corporation's "Plainsman" dream car. In the latter, the third (rear) seat faces backward, "observation car" fashion. Third-seat passengers gain entry through a unique tailgate which doubles as an entry step.

The new cars are available in 64 different color combinations, 14 solids and 50 two-tones.

The fleet of trolley buses in London is the largest in the world. The buses carry some 750 million passengers a year.

Capt. Edward Teach was the real name of Blackbeard the pirate.

'Ready to Use' Matching Colors In BPS Paints

Now you can get identically matched colors — three "Ready To Use" BPS finishes in matching colors at the Monessen Plumbing & Electric Co., 535- 537 Donner avenue, a firm that has handled thi product for year.

Flatlux, one coat wall paint; Satin-Lux semi-gloss; Glos-Lux, high gloss enamel — flat, semi-gloss, Alkyd.

It's the new, fast, easy way to color styled beauty for your home. There are several hundred colors to choose from.

Bring out the full beauty of your rooms with identically matched colors. Use Flatlux where a quick drying, smooth, velvety flat finish is desired on walls and ceilings.

Use Satin-Lux where a satin-smooth, semi-gloss finish is preferred on walls, ceilings and woodwork.

Use Glos-Lux where a high-gloss, fast drying, easy to apply finish is desired for walls, woodwork, cupboard, cabinet in kitchens, bathrooms, etc.

Satone Alkyd flat enamel is another product of BPS paint line, sold by the Monessen Plumbing & Electric Co. It is a completely new type of finish for use on interior walls, ceilings and trim. It has an added hardness of finish that increases the washability, tremendouly. The low heen finish gives a luxurious richness and beauty that is unsurpassed.

Satone is the ideal finish for living room, dining room, bedroom, bathroom, nursery, hall, recreation room and kitchen.

Satone covers most surfaces in one coat. This wonderful finish lays down a perfect coat that has greater adhesion and durability.

It is easy to apply, fast drying, truly washable, no painty odor. One gallon will cover approximately 350 to 500 square feet.

Go to the Monessen Plumbing & Electric Co., 535-537 Donner avenue, for paint needs for every purpose.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Dimperio, who died 18 years ago today, June 8, 1939.
You are not forgotten, mother,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Theodore Frank Kirpan, who died one year ago tomorrow, June 9, 1956.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
And still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way;
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Drotos, who died three years ago tomorrow, June 9, 1954.
There is still an ache in our hearts today
That passing years cannot take away,
A place in our hearts that nothing can fill.
We miss you, Mother, and always will.
Your memory is our keepsake,
With that we shall never part,
God has you in His keeping,
We have you in our hearts.
Sadly missed by Husband, Daughter and Son-in-law.

Daughter of Diplomat May Have Eloped

WASHINGTON (UP)—Police of 13 states searched today for the pretty teen-age daughter of a Swedish diplomatic official and a 17-year-old Capitol page boy who are believed to have eloped.

Col. Stig Wennerstrom, air attache at the Swedish Embassy here, said his daughter, Christiana, 16, and the page, Hu Williams of Falls Church, Va., have been missing since Sunday.

Wennerstrom said the youngsters had been dating for about a year.

Their apparent elopement came as a "big surprise" to him, he said. His daughter had never hinted at such a step, he said, and both were "calm" youngsters who were not the type to run off.

Washington police said they sent out an alert to 13 eastern states Wednesday to try to locate the couple, who were believed to be travelling in a 1951 black convertible owned by Williams' mother.

Wennerstrom said he had not heard from his daughter since she disappeared Sunday.

She attended Woodrow Wilson High School here and young Williams attended the School for Pages, Wennerstrom said.

He said his daughter had brownish-blonde hair and blue eyes, was 5-feet, 2-inches tall and weighed 135 pounds.

Police said Williams was about 6-foot-2 and had black hair.

Philathea Class Plans for Picnic

The Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church met on Thursday evening in regular session with the president, Mrs. Della Forsyth, in charge and the devotional program was conducted by Jennie Flora, Alice Pender and Lena Venneri.

The topic for discussion was "Hymnology" and there was group singing and prayer. Mrs. Venneri read an article on "Father's Day".

Plans were made for a picnic to be held on July 11 at Monessen City Park. Mrs. Edith Vanaman will be general chairman.

There were 26 members present and the evening was concluded by the serving of luncheon by the hostesses, Cozie Llewellen, Ruth Gilchrist and Jane Gates.

Mrs. Frank Fundy Entertains Club

Mrs. Frank Fundy entertained members of the Thursday afternoon club at her home and cards were the diversion.

Those receiving high score awards were Mrs. Melvin Renkey, Marion Derezenko, Mrs. Hugo Vannucci and Mrs. John Brazack.

Luncheon was served and plans were made for the next session at the home of Bernadine Sylvester.

Marion FHA Chapter to Attend State Convention

The Marion Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America will be represented at the 12th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of the Future Homemakers of America at Pennsylvania State University, next week.

Attending will be Dolores Berna, president; Catherin Elder, vice president; Patty Johnson, secretary and Donna Traversari, parliamentarian. The voting delegate for the group will be Dolores Berna. Attending from Bellmar Chapter will be Francine Gill, president of the group. She will have charge of the Region B 2 meeting to be held on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Bernice Shook, Marion Chapter adviser, will accompany the girls.

There will be 1,200 members and teacher advisers representing approximately 400 chapters at the session.

"The Future Is In Your Hands" will be the theme of the conference. Dr. Emory Brown, associate professor of Rural Sociology at Pennsylvania State University, will be the coordinator of the 40 discussion groups.

Those assisting will be Dr. Francis Whaley and Dr. William Smith Jr., also of the University. A representative of the Home Economics Department of the school will extend the welcome and Mrs. Cleo S. Reinwald, coordinator of Homemaking education, Department of Public Instruction at the first general session on Monday evening.

This session will feature a style show, "I Made It" with FHA girls from all over the state modeling clothes they have made. A chicken barbecue will also be held.

On Tuesday morning state officers will be elected and on Wednesday morning there will be installation. State President Nancy Jean Ruth, of Fountain Hill, will present the honorary state memberships.

Nine adults will receive this honor. Essay awards and the scholarship announcement will be made. Mrs. Cecil Garey, president of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers will speak on "You Too Can Be A Leader". An entertainment program is also planned.

Rebekah Lodge Makes Plans for Future Activites

The Lady Belle Rebekah Lodge met on Thursday evening at the lodge hall with Noble Grand Josephine Gearhart in charge. The session began with the patriotic devotions and routine reports were given by Mae Noble, and Henrietta Younkin, who gave the financial statement.

Several members were reported ill and in the hospital and cards and flowers will be sent from the organization.

Important business was scheduled for discussion at the June 20th meeting.

A committee was appointed to purchase the gifts for the installing staff, who will install officers in October.

Catherine Procko is the chairman and she will be assisted by Ruth Kelly and Clara Newlin.

It was decided to continue meetings in July and August. These will be in a different form such as picnics and other outings.

Josephine Gearhart won the prize of the evening and it was donated by Catherine Procko.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Josephine Gearhart, Edith Strenske and Mae Noble.

Protectors Club To Make Trip Into Pittsburgh

The Protectors Club of the Dames of Malta were entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Zelma Popp with Mrs. Dorothy Adomaitos and Mrs. Lillian Hurst as hostesses.

Mrs. Popp as president was in charge and the devotionals were led by Mrs. Jean Tarr after which Mrs. Edythe Strenske led in prayer.

During the business session final plans were made for a trip to Pittsburgh by bus next Thursday. Plans were also discussed for a Dutch Maid party to be held after the regular lodge meeting on Wednesday of next week.

A picnic was planned for the lodge members and Protector members. Mrs. Adomaitos will be chairman and the date will be announced later.

Games were played and several prizes were awarded. Mrs. Adomaitos won the pig and the guest award went to Jean Tarr. There were 18 members and a guest present.

Executive Board Of Vernon PTA Plans for Year

The executive committee of the Vernon Parent Teacher Association formulated plans for the coming year and transacted year end business at a meeting held on Thursday evening at the Vernon Junior High School library.

Mrs. Myrtle Johnston, president, was in charge. Programs for the coming year were discussed.

Mrs. Jesse Myers, ways and means chairman, reported on the bake sale her committee sponsored and also on the first in a series of home card parties, which was very successful.

A report was given on the Patrol Boy treat, which was a trip to the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball game on May 29.

It was announced that Mrs. Jennie Flora's third grade from Belle Vernon elementary school won the April attendance banner for having the largest percentagewise parental attendance. The special treat for the year's attendance went to this room and Mrs. Eleanor Barrass' North Belle Vernon kindergarten.

Make Plans for Annual Brunch

Mrs. Thomas Chapman, who will serve as chairman for the annual brunch held each June by the Belle Vernon Woman's Club, entertained members of her committee at her home on Henry St. on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. John Owen will serve as co-chairman.

The picnic was set for June 25, at Monessen Park at 11 a. m. In case of rain it will be held in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian Church.

The committee includes Mrs. Gerald Stanley, Mrs. Berwyn Evans, Mrs. Steven Ruby, Mrs. Leroy Jones, Mrs. Evan Thomas, Mrs. Herbert Long, Mrs. Harold Robins, Mrs. Thomas Flanigan, Mrs. Jerome Boland, Mrs. William Pierotti and Mrs. Raymond Waite.

Marlene Ambrose Honor Guest at Bridal Shower

A pre-nuptial shower held at the Park Casino honored bride-elect Marlene Ambrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ambrose, of Graham St., on Tuesday evening.

Entertaining for the June bride-to-be were Gloria Koslosky, who will be the maid of honor at her wedding, her sister, Mrs. Betty Jean Vargo; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jean Ambrose and friends, Jean Tintori and Mrs. Doris Barruso.

There were 33 relatives and friends present from Monessen, Belle Vernon, West Newton, Donora and Charleroi. Games were played and those winning prizes were Mrs. Gail Koslosky, Mrs. Carol Pushkar, Mrs. Joan McCloskey, Mrs. Koslosky and Marilyn Githens.

The many gifts presented to the honored guest were arranged beneath a large sprinkling can with streamers of pink and white.

Luncheon was served from a table centered with a decorated cake and tall lighted tapers.

Miss Ambrose will become the bride of Jack France, of Donora, son of Mrs. Florence France and the late Robert France, on Saturday morning, June 29, at St. Sebastian Church. The ceremony will be solemnized at 11 o'clock.

Rotary Club Hears Talk on School Jointure

Harry Riffle, assistant superintendent of Fayette County Schools, was guest speaker at the dinner meeting held on Thursday evening by the Belle Vernon Rotary Club. He discussed "Jointures in the Fayette County Schools".

Riffle is a Rotarian from Smithfield. Another visitor was Robert Hoehl, of Charleroi.

Plans were announced for the annual Rehoboth Church meeting, which has been scheduled for June 20 with District Governor Thomas Malpass, Belle Vernon Rotarian, in charge. He has secured as the guest speaker Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, a prominent author and lecturer.

President Charles Toteda appointed the following new committee to have charge of plans to erect a Boy Scout house, George Wenick, Albert Catrino, Joseph Toteda, Pete Tallerico and Harold Underwood.

A committee was also named to have charge of the installation of new officers, June 27, at the Methodist Church, Catrino, Glenn Anderson, Pete Tallerico and Charles Higgins.

Women's Defense Club Meeting

Final plans were made for a bus trip to Cleveland on June 12 when members of the Women's Defense Club of Belle Vernon met on Tuesday in the Italian Hall on Market St. The president, Mrs. Adelmina Schmidt, was in charge.

Also during the business session tentative plans were made for a picnic during the month of July. The committee in charge will include Mrs. Lena Nicolette, Mrs. Essen Farkas, Mrs. Dena Stura, Mrs. Louise Trozzo, Mrs. Zelinda Sabatini, Mrs. Amelia Volpe and Mrs. Lee Donnini.

Mrs. Fosca Frederick, a member of the group who is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital, was remembered with a flower.

Mrs. Adley Hough and daughter, Esther and Mildred Reynolds, of Ravenna, Ohio, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Popp and Mr. and Mrs. William Cable.

Your Health—

Is There Any Risk in X-ray?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

All of us have been hearing a lot from time to time about the dangers of radiation. There is no doubt that excessive radiation exposure can have serious consequences.

This has prompted many persons to ask me, what about medical X-rays, are they dangerous?

In the hands of properly trained physcians or radiologists, let me assure you, X-ray treatment is perfectly safe.

However, the American College of Radiology points out that of the 126,000 professional users of X-ray apparatus today, only about 4,000 have the comprehensive special training of radiologists.

The education of the others in the use and dangers of this equipment, of course, varies.

But no matter what the experience of the physician or the operator of the X-ray equipment might be, there is one cardinal rule that the operator always tries to follow:

"Keep the dose as low as you can."

X-ray technicians know that it is important that X-ray be used in the diagnosis and treatment of many diseases, but that it is also important that the dosage be kept to the absolute minimum to achieve the desired results.

One way to keep the diagnostic dosage at the lowest possible level is to make sure the examination is performed correctly the first time.

A great deal of radiologic research is being conducted to determine just how low a dosage is possible and still give good results. This research should help us a great deal in determining just when X-rays become dangerous.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

S. D.: For the past few months I have had pains in my left heel. It feels like I am stepping on nails. What could be causing this?

Answer: Your difficulty could be caused by spur, or extra portion of bone, protruding from the heel bone. Sometimes an inflammation of the ligaments around the heel or arthritis can also be at fault.

TV Stars Getting Ready for Summer

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Summertime—when the living is easy, the cotton is high and re-runs bloom in the TV machine—rapidly is approaching.

It's the period in which TV hits the skids and TV stars hit the road.

This summer will follow the mournful pattern. TV performers are mothballing the teleprompters and lighting out for places as scattered as Sweden, Hawaii and Englewood, N. J.

Englewood is the spot where Phil Silvers will pass part of his vacation. There's a golf course in the Jersey town owned by comics Dick Shawn and Buddy Hackett and Phil plans to work out on the links while his wife, Evelyn Patrick, awaits their baby. It's due July 1.

Trip To Hawaii

Dinah Shore hopes to go to Honolulu for a couple of weeks. She's also planning a visit to her husband's Montana ranch and intends to supervise the building of her new home off Hollywood's Sunset Strip.

Edgar and Frances Bergen and their 11-year-old, Candy, will shoot off to Europe with a one-month stopover in Sweden. Art Baker of ABC-TV's "You Asked For It" also is taking off for Europe. Art, who is getting married Aug. 8, will honeymoon in London, Cologne, Venice, Rome and Paris.

Garry Moore will stuff his wife and sons in his boat and sail to New England and the Canadian coast. Durward Kirby of the Moore cast just plans to fish away his vacation at his Connecticut home.

Fishing For Murrow

Ed Murrow, another fishing buff, is taking his son Casey, 11, on an angling trip through the Northwest and into Canada starting in mid-July.

Tennessee Ernie Ford is mapping a motor trip which he'll take with his wife, Betty, to New Orleans, Bristol, Tenn., and New England. The balance of the summer will be spent at Ernie's 560-acre cattle ranch in Clearlake County, Calif.

Ed Sullivan will remain on the air, but he hopes to spend some spare time at his Sooothbury, Conn., farm. Dr. Bergen Evans of "The Last Word" wants to take a trip to Spain with his wife before fall sets in.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. A-409-F

DESIGN A-409-F. This four bedroom house is of frame construction on an insulated concrete floor slab, without basement. A utility room provides for storage, laundry and heating equipment. The floor plan consists of a large combination-living-dining room, kitchen with dinette, dual bathroom and four bedrooms, all opening into a central hall. Closets are large and numerous and include coat closets, linen cabinet, storage closets and wardrobes in the bedrooms. Exterior finish calls for vertical siding throughout with a touch of stone or face brick in front, wide eaves, picture window and planter. Floor area is 1,620 square feet, cubage is 17,820 cubic feet. For more information about DESIGN A-409-F, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Wider Driveways Are Needed for New Cars

Many older houses have driveways too narrow for today's automobiles. The length of modern cars, more than the width, causes deep ruts on one or both sides of narrow driveways where they meet the street. These ruts, created when turning a car in or out of the driveway, become mud holes in front of many homes.

A wider apron can be created at such points in two or three hours work on a weekend afternoon. All you need is a shovel, a piece of 2 by 4 lumber, a few stones, a trowel and a few bags of ready mixed dry concrete.

Widen the rut as far as you think necessary. The driveway and street can serve as two sides to hold the new concrete and the 2 by 4 can be used to complete the form and separate the concrete from the lawn.

Consider the Frost Line

The depth of your excavation should at least equal the thickness of the driveway. The builder probably made that go below the local frost line, so that can be a good measurement. At least 6 inches is usually the minimum.

Place large stones on the bottom of the hole — more down the middle than along the sides. Leave spaces between the stones for concrete. The stones, covered and surrounded by concrete, provide a good foundation of extra strength.

Now you are ready to mix and pour the concrete. For small jobs of this type, ready mixed dry concrete is much the simplest. All the proper ingredients are proportioned for you. You just add one gallon of water for each 90 pound bag of the gravel-mix type. The mixing can be done with a shovel right on the driveway.

Water Cuts Strength

Don't add more than one gallon of water per bag. Excess moisture will weaken finished concrete. You can figure that a 90-pound bag will yield 2-3 of a cub foot of needed for the size of your excavation.

Shovel the mixture into the hole filled solidly. Let this stand for 15 minutes to an hour. Coarse gravel aggregate will settle below the surface. Water will tend to rise to the top. When the surface shows a watery sheen, it is time for troweling.

Some Easy Tips on Packing to Move

Virtually every leading mover nowadays provides complete packing and unpacking services for a small extra charge. And so far as any long-distance move is concerned it is well worth the extra cost to have the mover take care of that messy detail.

However, there are those who can't afford to do their own moving. Therefore a session on packing is in order.

Probably the most difficult packing task is that which involves dishes, china and glassware. This subject is dwelt upon at length in the packing manual compiled by Aero Mayflower Transit Company, leading mover of household goods, and the information relayed herewith is taken from the pages of that manual.

In packing a barrel of china, the breakable items are packed in three or four tiers, depending on the size of the particular items, with dinner plates on the first tier, serving pieces on the second, china on the third, and dainty glassware on the fourth.

First step in the entire operation is to distribute shredded paper on the bottom of the barrel, pressing the paper down until you have a cushion about five inches high. Then proceed with the wrapping of the individual items.

Whether you're wrapping dinner plates or glassware, the procedure is pretty much the same with one exception. Dresden china and similar fragile articles should be padded with cotton or Kimpak immediately around each piece, instead of with shredded paper.

Plates, soup dishes and the like should be wrapped in bundles of 5 or 6. First, place two or three sheets of newsprint on a table. Then spread a layer of shredded paper evenly over the center of the sheets of paper to form a cushion.

Between each plate distribute a generous amount of shredded paper. When you have a packet of five or six, pull up the loose pieces of shredded paper around the sides of the dishes to protect them from chipping. Add extra shredded paper to the sides of the bundle and over the top plate if necessary for proper padding.

Complete the procedure by wrapping the bundle with the sheets of newsprint.

About four or five bundles should be nestled together on edge in a straight row across the center of the barrel. The ends of the row should be protected from the sides of the barrel with shredded paper, packed in solidly.

A couple more bundles of dishes and possible some small vases or sturdy glassware then should be placed in the barrel to fill out the bottom tier. Make sure you use enough shredded paper to prevent any of the wrapped articles from coming in contact with the sides of the barrel. When you have completed this, cover the entire first tier with a two-inch layer of shredded paper, pressed down and level.

Then proceed to build up with succeeding articles, using the same wrapping method.

When the top tier has been completed, shredded paper should be added evenly enough and generously enough to extend above the top of the barrel. There should be enough shredded paper so that when the cover is placed down in place a firm cushion at least one-inch thick will exist between the cover and the top of the last tier of bundles.

Remember, the packing should be tight enough to hold firmly, but not so tight that it will place stress on the individual articles. This is of utmost importance, because too much pressure will result in breakage when the cover is placed into position. If the articles are packed too loosely, breakage in handling is almost certain.

Time to Plan For Winter Comfort Is Now

Want to plan now for perfect comfort next winter — perfect comfort all of the time, regardless of the outdoor weather?

This is the time to make plans to let the weather run your heating system. This can be done by means of an indoor-outdoor temperature control.

Summer is the ideal time to have changes made in the heating system. This is one of the changes that will provide greater comfort along with fuel economy, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

An indoor-outdoor temperature control modulates the heat supply, matching delivery with need. The colder it gets, the greater the heat output. Conversely, when the weather warms up, the control acts as a brake on the heating plant, preventing overheating.

In either case, indoor temperature is maintained constantly at the ideal comfort level, the Bureau emphasizes.

Any of the forced hot water heating systems — baseboard, convector, radiator, or panel — can be modulated for better control of temperature and fuel burned for heating.

Any heating and piping contractor will be glad to explain this refinement in control and how easily it can be installed sometime in the course of the summer months.
